INSIDE the GUIDE

Hello Readers,

Spring has sprung! Rumors make the radio world go 'round... or at least that's how it seems sometimes. Our contributing editor, Eric Richardson, has been following the rumor mill recently and he reports on it in his story RUMORS OF THE RADIO WAVE on page 5. One bit of news that is not a rumor is a new show debuting on KEZX-AM, entitled Straight Talk. It targets recovering alchoholics and addicts as well as those still practicing. In our story STRAIGHT TALK; RECOVERY RADIO we find the audience for such a program might be bigger than one would think.

Hope you enjoy this issue of the Guide, you will find all the station listings, our crossword puzzle, Radio Flashback and all our regular features inside. Watch out for those April showers!

Good Listening

Station News

KITZ-AM was sold last month. Silversound Broadcasting announced the sale of the Silverdale based station to KITZ Broadcasting Inc.. The newly formed corporation is comprised of Kitsap County residents and the major stock holders are Loren and Celia Johnson. William and Mary Ann Huntington will also have a signifigant interest. Celia Johnson will be involved in the stations day to day operations. William Huntington has twenty years experience in radio, TV and print communications. Mary Huntington is a member of the Bremerton Port Commision. The sale will final pending FCC approval.

Several new programs will debut this month including Living on Earth NPR's weekly newsmagazine focussing on the people and politics of environmental change. KPLU will present a new jazz series entitled Taylor Made Piano it will be a musical 13 week jazz history lesson. NPR's Bob & Bill will debut April 2 and air every weeknight at 9 and Straight Talk will make it's debut on KEZX- AM. KING-AM has added CNN's Radio News to their programming.

Robert Williams is now Operations manager at KZOK-AM and the Rocket's Jeff Gilbert is serving as the station's new marketing and music director. Leaving Z-Rock is former PD Jon Donavon who is now with PROmotion Management. Donovan, an ardent supporter of the Seattle music scene will be doing promotion and A & R work for several labels and managing three local bands, says Jon, "I'm not exactly retiring!"

Letters From Readers

Dear Sirs,

Bruce Buckner's article in Issue #16 contains on page 5, the word: acoustic, in a sentence ...that all the music is acoustic...?

What on earth do you mean?

Were it not; how could one hear it?

Dictionaries define "acoustic" as pertaining to hearing, not how it was/is produced.

It has become trendy to call the instruments we have known for centuries i.e. before electronics, "acoustic", some sort of Madison Ave. advertising hype. I abhor this sort of literary barbarism, the debasing adulterating of our english/american language. If the sound of a spanish guitar is broadcast electronically, how can it by your definition be called acoustic?

P.S.: I could go into a longer disertation, but you can look it up yourselves.

Andrew Asmussen
Federal Way

Dear Andrew,

Well EXCUUUSE me!

P.S.: An idle mind is the devil's playground

Bruce Buckner

RUMORS OF THE RADIO WAVES

by Eric Richardson

Rumors make the world go round, or so it seems in the world of radio. In an industry that is fast paced, subject to the whims of those who receive Arbitron diaries and phone calls from Birch, high turnover and ultimately incestuous. Being "in the loop" of the rumor mill means second guessing your competition, learning of possible job opportunities (or available personal), and...well just having something to talk about. When radio types gather together conversations often start with "Did you hear that..." or "Heard any dirt lately?" Being the first one to pass on a hot rumor to a colleague or competitor can be a source of great pride and satisfaction for radio people.

Rumor activity seems to come in cycles and recently the cycle has been in high gear. The sale and impending break up of KING Broadcasting alone has had tongues wagging for months and it shows no sign of letting up. Now that the sale of their TV division to the Providence Journal has been made public, speculation is rampant about what will happen to the radio division. Will the stations be sold intact or split up? How will the Bullitt sisters make good on their promise to keep KING-FM classical? One scenario has them donating the station in a public trust to the City of Seattle... but then what will happen to KING-AM? Is it inevitable that by the time the situation is resolved, somebody will be left twisting in the wind?

Another rumor that has recently resurfaced concerns the fate of KBRD (103.7 FM), the station "as beautiful as a bird in flight." Their sister station, KTAC-AM, recently went to a simulcast with the FM, and their studios, which were located in Tacoma are moving to downtown Seattle. Is this a foreshadowing of things to come? Various reports on the rumor hotline have them switching to either "Churban" (a hybrid of contemporary hit radio and urban formats, not unlike what's heard on non commercial KNHC C-89) or "Rock of the '90's", a rock format emphasizing current music rather than Led Zeppelin and the Beetles. Other elements of this rumor include a talent search underway for a "morning zoo" program and a projected kickoff date of April 15th...so this may be old news by the time you read it. Then again, it might all be pure fantasy.

Some stations may even generate false rumors to suit their own purposes. As this article goes to press, KISW is running cryptic on air announcements of an impending format change beginning this Monday. Wait a minute... Monday?... April 1st?... Kinda makes you wonder. Regardless, they have people talking, their competitors licking their chops, and you can bet that lots of people will be tuning in on Monday to find out if it's real or not! I know I will.

Rumors have a dark side as well. Some can be damaging to careers of innocent victims. A prime example was the "Yuppie coke ring" of a few years ago where a drug dealer, who allegedly serviced upscale clientele, was said to have been monitored doing business with several well known media personalities. For several weeks names were whispered in hallways, of those said to be involved , one even went on the air to deny his guilt. Not one person whose name was mentioned was ever charged with anything, but their rumored guilt haunts them to this day and certainly hasn't done their careers any favors.

Fortunately, most rumors are simply a harmless, yet slightly naughty look into radio's crystal ball or a chance to "scoop" your friends on some juicy information. In fact, if YOU have heard a good radio rumor lately please send it to us hear at the Radio Guide, We will try to print some of the more outrageous ones in an upcoming issue.

10:30 KUOW; NPR Playhouse The Heart of Darkness. A tribute to Joseph Conrad. One of Conrad's best known short stories, this tale follows the psychological odyssey of it's narrator as he embarks on a two month journey into the jungle. 4/2-Marlowe reaches the trading company's deepest station in the African interior where he meets a strange russian man who tells him a chilling story. 4/9-Marlowe at last finds Kurtz, feverish and dying, he attempts to take the trader back downstream but meets opposition. 4/16-Kurtz dies and Marlowe becomes the protector of Kutz's legacy (conclusion). 4/23-The Joseph Conrad Tribute continues with The Secret Agent, a classic novel of espionage and anarchism about a self proclaimed spy, Adolph Verloc, and his bungling acts of terrorism. In episode 1, Verloc is summoned by his spymaster to report to the embassy, where he is ordered to bomb the Greenwich Observatory. 4/30-As a double agent, Verloc infiltrates an anarchist group consisting of an old embittered revolutionary, a parasitic hanger-on obsessed with classifying people into types of degeneracy, and a man who has recently served time for a bungled terrorist act.

BEST BETS

FOR APRIL

(contininued from pg 12)

3. The KIRO Mystery Playhouse

This weekly series of radio dramas was written and directed by KIRO midday host Jim French. First heard in the 1970's, the dramas include detective mysteries, science fiction, comedies and suspense adventures. The program will offer a "double feature" of two original radio plays each night. Actors featured in the series include Hollywood stars such as John Austin, Patricia Barry, Hans Conreid, Bob Crane, Patty Duke, Roddy MacDowall, Tom Smothers and Keenan Wynn. The hourly program airs every Sunday, at 10:06pm. on KIRO 710.

4. Groovin' Time

Somewhere between the Twighlight Zone and twighlight time, there's a roadhouse - The drinks are ice cold and the sax is even cooler. Michael the Sandman brings you blues,soul and R&B interspersed with stream-of-conciousness, beat poetry. Airs Thursdays, 8pm on KBCS 91.3

5. Neal Gladstone's Comedy Show

Neal Gladstone and his Company perform their off-beat humorous songs in a show that should include plenty of local humor. The program will debut April 12th and air every Friday 10:30 pm. on KUOW 94.9

STRAIGHT TALK
Recovery Radio for the Northwest

There is a new entry in Seattle's talk radio: Straight Talk - Recovery Radio for the Northwest. Alcoholism, addiction and recovery are the topics to be broadcast every weeknight.

Jerauld D. Miller has been working working on the broadcast concept for five years and, after many trips to the drawing board and back, is launching the very special audience oriented program which will debut May 20th on KEZX-AM, weeknights from 10:00pm to Midnight. Miller is the founding publisher of Alcoholism & Addiction Magazine, a national publication for professionals. He will be joined by co-host Stephanie Abbott who is an instructor at Seattle University's Alcohol Studies Program, President of the National Foundation for Alcoholism and Addiction Communications as well as a family and codependency counselor. Neil Scott, a former California broadcast personality and a former Field Director for the National Council on Alcoholism, will conduct most of the celebrity interviews and will anchor the program which will originate in Seattle at KEZX's studios.

Each edition of Straight Talk will open with a celebrity interview followed by open phone questions to the guest regarding his/her recovery or other personal involvement in addiction issues. The two hour magazine format will be punctuated with news and feature reports about local self help and recovery program activities, counseling tips and other resources. The main conversation flow will be from in-coming phone calls from recovering people anxious to share their experience as well as family members and friends of addicted victims looking for help and guidance.

The producers have done their homework and have pre-booked an impressive list of celebrities including Betty Ford, Bonnie Raitt, George Carlin, Johnny Cash, Ann Landers and Howard Cosell. Also booked are many of the leading addiction authorities and treatment specialists. Among the pre-recorded feature reports are programs entitled; "Adult Children of Alcoholics", "Does AA Work for Everybody?", and "Addicted Professionals".

Straight Talk will have a special radio hot line for those who wish to converse with the celebrity guests or the hosts. The phones will be first answered by volunteers who will screen for crisis cases and for people seeking information without wanting to be on the air. This public service feature is a major thrust of the National Foundation for Alcoholism Communications, one of the producers of the talk show.

Some might question the viability of a program "narrow-casting" to such a specialized audience but the producers point out that there is a so called "invisible audience" of over 160,000 recovering listeners in the shows target area. Seattle hosts over 1,200 weekly meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous, more than any other city in the world! When the thousands and thousands of "codependent" family members, spouses, friends and significant others of recovering or still suffering alcoholics are included the audience seems huge.

"The recovering audience is big, vocal and loyal" said producer and host Miller. "It will build ratings. The number and intensity of incoming phone calls will surprise a number of people," One type of listener no rating service will ever be able to identify is the still practicing alcoholic or addict because those practicing are usually in denial and will not volunteer that they have a problem. "But radio is a 'no fault' medium," according to Miller, "No one needs to know what station the addicted person is tuned to, or what the format is. Information is frequently sought in this kind of 'anonymous environment' and those with a need to know can listen in the privacy of their own homes, cars or headsets." The fact that one in every three American households is impacted by alcoholism or addiction demonstrates the programs audience potential.

Straight Talk Hosts (L-R) Jerauld Miller, Neil Scot, and Stephanie Abbott

The selection of the 10:00pm time slot was not exactly accidental. Straight talk creator Miller had wanted that time because nearly half of Seattle's 12-step meetings adjourn in the 9:30-10:00pm range, providing the program with a built-in "commute" audience. It is also a time for introspection and reflection for those leaving the meetings as well as a time when many spouses and families are worried about the absence and/or erratic behavior if their loved ones.

KEZX Manager Peg Dempsey seems to agree with Miller's assessment of the potential audience. She sees the Straight talk format as a prospective ratings booster in a time segment already responsive to talk radio. Since KEZX is a member of the Business Radio Network the producers have tailored the program for national networking. They anticipate becoming the first coast to coast program of it's kind. One Portland station within a satellite uplink capability has already expressed an interest in carrying this innovative new program. Seattle's Straight talk may soon have an even bigger voice than the one KEZX will provide when the show debuts this May.

Mon-Fri:

Radio Reader Nightly readings from a current novel in 15 - 60 half hour segments read by Dick Estell. Sunday Nights at Seven. This is the story of Jack Benny told in his own words and in the reminisences of his daughter Joan. On 4/25 In the Men's House begins. Capt. Carol Barkalow tells her story as one of the first women in history to attend West Point. 10-10:30pm KUOW 94.9

NPR Playhouse Nightly half hour of experimental contemporary radio in this general format:

MONDAY; McTeague Featuring the voices of Stacy Keach and Michael York, This radio drama is a darkly passionate turn of the century novel about the downfall of a simple man who desires a simple life. A slow witted dentist, McTeague rapidly goes into a primitave state when his life collapses around him.

TUESDAY; This month features a "Tribute to Joseph Conrad". The Heart of Darkness is presented first. It is the psychological odessey of a young man's two month journey into the African jungle. On 4/23 The Secret Agent begins. It is Conrad's classic novel of espionage and anarchism.

WEDNESDAY; The Radio Stage This 11 part series features programs of original drama and state of the art sound effects created especially for radio. Each week a different drama is written by renowned playwrights and performed by New York based repertory companies.

THURSDAY; Raffles. AJ Raffles, an English gentleman, is also known as the most ingenious burglar ever to baffle Scotland Yard. He teams up with his friend Bunny Manders and the two cheat, steal and charm their way across England.

FRIDAY; The Bob and Ray Show ends 4/5. The Neil Gladstone Comedy Show begins the following week. Neil has been delighting NW audiences for years. Neil now brings his off-beat songs and wacky humor to the radio.

INSIDE the GUIDE

Hello Readers,

Welcome to the new and improved MONTHLY edition of the Radio Guide. As we are a new publication, still in our developmental stages, we are constantly striving to improve our publication for our readers and our advertisers. Following a little more than a month of publication, we came to the conclusion that radio programming simply didn't change enough to justify publishing on a weekly basis. I hope you find our new monthly publication a more interesting, entertaining and informative magazine.

Included inside you will find all the programming information that we formally carried as well as a new feature, a comic strip by Mike Tackett called RADIO WAVES, information on station contests is now included along with a bit of radio business news.

Several feature stories can now be found in the Radio Guide. Our regular contributer, Eric Richardson, sorts through all those stations billing themselves "Adult Contemporary" in his story ADULT CONTEMPORARY; Plugging into the AC. You can find the feature on page 5.

Kent & Alan, Charlie & Ty, Crow & West, Ryan & Ryan, Ichabod & the Waking Crew, The Breakfast Club, Vic & Chet, The i Guys, ... Are those Morning DJ teams the wave of the future or just a passing fad? Are the teams a sum greater than their parts or just a "morning zoo"? Eric Mathison spoke to several team members as well as program directors and the legendary Pat O'Day. Read the story on pg 26

The NW Area Music Assoc. (NAMA) held their annual award ceremony on April 9 and a part-time DJ, KISW's Damon Knight, won the best Disc Jockey award. An Interview with Damon can be found on page ?

Enjoy the new Radio Guide. See you next month! BB

LETTERS FROM READERS

Dear Radio Guide,

After reading your cover story, Radio: Behind the Scenes, I couldn't help but to notice that you forgot to include a job description of a Radio Promotion Director.

It used to be that we were the ones who drove the van, hung the station banner, and handed out stickers. These days, a good Promotion Director must know Marketing, Sales, Public Relations, Media Buying, Copywriting, Design, Production, and Budgets. They must have a real feel for the market, and are expected to know what will and will not work.

Hundreds of thousand of dollars are generated as a result of station promotions. Gone are the days of a client just buying airtime. Now, everyone and their mother wants a promotion! It's up to the Promotion Director along with input from the Station Manager, Sales Manager and Program Director to decide what promotions are appropriate for the station and it's listeners.

Not only is the Promotion Director responsible for getting the station logo exposure via advertising campaigns and station handouts (stickers, buttons, t-shirts and assorted specialty items) but he (or she) is also very involved with the imaging of the station. This means carefully writing press releases and on-air promo copy, knowing what other mediums are effective forms of advertising (television, print, or outdoor) and knowing when and where to place that advertising.

My point is, the Promotion Director has one of the most challenging positions in radio today, working 10-12 hours a day,early mornings, late nights and weekends.

To alot of people we're crazy, but we do what we do because we love it! We take a great deal of pride in our work and the stations we represent

Sincerely,
Scott Paine
Promotion Director

ADULT CONTEMPORARY: PLUGGING INTO THE AC

By Eric Richardson

For fans of professional wrestling, the ultimate event is the "Battle Royale".....that's where several wrestlers start out simultaneously in the ring and throw each other out until only one victorious individual remains. The equivalent of a "Battle Royale" is currently taking place among Seattle's Adult Contemporary radio stations. Problem is, nobody shows any signs of leaving the ring.

Adult Contemporary is a popular format among broadcasters for the same reason as oldies stations; it takes dead aim at the 25-54 age group most sought after by advertisers. They cater not to the serious music fan, but rather those who enjoy tunes that are pleasant, hummable and familiar. Tried and true adult contemporary artists include Neil Diamond, Anne Murray, Lionel Ritchie and Kenny Rogers.

A total of of five Seattle radio stations fit the definition of Adult Contemporary, (Ed. Note- as well as KENU in Enumclaw and KBRO in Bremerton) all with their own formula of music, personalities, on air features and promotions. All tend to rely on personalities in the morning and more on music throughout the rest of the day, but each has its own distinguishing features.

The AC (adult contemporary) station with the longest history in Seattle is KOMO AM 1000, where their affable morning man Larry Nelson has been a fixture for over twenty years. KOMO prides itself on being Seattle's only "full service" AC station, offering a great variety of elements in their programming including news (both local and ABC), commentary (from folksy radio legend Paul Harvey), sports (KOMO pays a hefty sum to carry UW Husky football and basketball), personalities (including, in addition to Nelson, former rock jock Norm Gregory) and of course, music. KOMO's music selections are fairly conservative, reflecting the stations somewhat older listenership compared to other AC stations.

In 1983, the plug was pulled on KZAM's bohemian format to make way for KLSY, the only local FM station broadcasting from Bellevue. KLSY's morning team of Bruce Murdock, Tim Hunter, Alice Porter and Dave Sloan creates a fun, sometimes wacky show utilizing parodies, impressions and listener call-ins. Their music is described as being culled from "the seventies, eighties and nineties" and is aimed primarily at female listeners from the baby boom generation. One popular feature on KLSY is "Lights Out", an evening showcase of love songs often dedicated by listeners to that special someone in their lives. KLSY's signal is found at 92.5, and they also simulcast on AM at 1540.

The honor of the craziest and zaniest morning show in AC radio should probably go to KMGI (i-107.7), with the trio of Bobby Rich, Alpha Trivette and Kelly Stevens. They're the guys hamming it up on the station's TV commercial, and their over the top humor reflects the fact that the station often sounds as much like contemporary hit stations like KUBE and KPLZ as it does other AC's. They place more emphasis on electronic influenced dance music than love ballads,although you won't hear any rap or hard rock that might alienate adult listeners. KMGI formerly operated as "Magic 108", a more traditional AC, and shifted to it's present incarnation last fall.

Many AC stations across the country use the term "light" in their marketing and even their call letters. One of the first was "KIXI Light" which eventually became simply "K-Lite" (officially KLTX), found at 95.7 FM. At one point, K-Lite used no live announcers on the air, instead focusing entirely on mainstream Adult Contemporary music. This changed last summer with the addition of Chad Douglas in the morning, and now announcers are heard throughout the day. However, the emphasis on K-Lite continues to be the music of the "soft and light" variety, while their sister station, KJR AM, uses personalities and promotions as a drawing card.

The latest entry into the AC sweepstakes is K-SEA 101, sister station to KIRO AM. Up until one year ago, KSEA was an easy listening station playing mostly instrumental versions of AC music. The change was made in order to reach a slightly younger audience that is more in demand by advertisers. KSEA is also a music driven station offering "soft and light" hits from the past 25 years. K-Lite and K-SEA probably have more in common than any other two stations mentioned above.

How are these stations battling for the hearts and minds of AC listeners? First, by finding their own distinct niche that sets them apart from their competitors. Second, through on-air promotions to encourage extended listening; KLSY has "Radio Bingo" incorporating a direct mail campaign, K-Lite is using a listen at work promotion, K-SEA is asking listeners to write down any 4 consecutive songs heard and send them in for a chance to win $10,000, and i-107.7 is giving away a total of $107,000 this spring. Television often plays an important role in AC marketing having been utilized recently by all stations mentioned.

So far no clear victor has emerged in this radio "Battle Royale", and none appear ready to be thrown out of the ring. In the meantime, fans of AC radio in Seattle are blessed with more options than with any other format.

HOT LAVA !

On Wednesday, May 16, KCMU will mark the 10th Anniversary of the eruption of Mt. St. Helens that occured on May 18th 1980. Between 6pm and 8pm Peter Blecha, as host of the Tall Cool Ones specialty show, will feature about twenty different recordings made a decade ago in tribute to the volcano.

Tall Cool Ones is a weekly show that digs back into the distant past sharing with listeners an always surprising range of recordings from the Pacific Northwest. Showcased on May 16 will be music of all genres; blues, jazz, folk, country-western, new age and rock 'n' roll. The artists behind all of these songs had a similar goal, that of comemmerating a great natural phenomenon. Their approaches however varied widely. From the novelty humor of Willy & the Woodchucks "(Helen) Don't Send Your Ash to Town" to the lush jazz arrangements of the Pete Leinonen Quintets "Ashfall" all the best recordings will be represented.

Host Peter Blecha says " I just thought it would be fun to pull together all of these volcano records in one show. Most of these recordings are fairly obscure and certainly none were ever hits, but taken together they form quite a sonic chronicle of the events of that spring. Tune in, it should be a blast."

Around the Dial

KING-AM will be the official Goodwill Games radio station. They have added twenty extra staff members to cover the games including Barry Tomkins and Jimmy Jones.

KIRO has won two awards from the Radio-Television News Directors Assoc.; the 1990 Regional Award for Spot News, and the 1990 Regional Award for Overall Excellence. Winners of the regional award are automatically entered into competition for the National Edward R Murrow Award for Overall Excellence, the "Academy Award" of the industry. KIRO is the only station in the country to have won the national award twice (1989 & 1982).

Papers have been filed with the FCC for the ownership transfer of KNUA 106.9 FM (A.K.A. "The Sound") from Gannett to Brown Broadcasting for the reported sum of $10 million. Brown has stated their intention to continue with KNUA's "New Adult Contemporary" format of contemporary light jazz and pop vocals, which is not surprising considering their success with the similarly formatted KKSF in the Bay Area. FCC approval of the transaction is expected within 90 to 120 days

Interview with DamonStewart KISW's NAMA Award Winner

By Bruce Buckner

The Northwest Area Music Association (NAMA) held their Third Annual Awards Ceremony on Monday, April 9. Winner of the "Best DJ Award" was Damon Stewart. According to Chris Knab, President of NAMA, "Damon won handily". Damon Stewart can be heard on KISW Sunday nights from 6-11pm. From 10-11pm he hosts "The New Music Hour".

Radio Guide: Congratulations on your award. How does it feel to be named "Best DJ" in the Northwest?

Damon Stewart: It feels pretty good. It shows that there is a lot of support for new and alternative music out there.

RG: How were winners of the NAMA awards selected?

DS: Well, it was a two stage process. In the first stage the public was asked to fill in their choice for each of the award categories. Those categories were listed on ballots distributed in The Weekly, Backlash, City Heat, The Willamette Weekly, Portland Downtowner, clubs, music stores and record stores. The top four vote-getters in each category went on to the second stage. In the second stage, those four nominees appeared on ballots sent out to NAMA members, Portland Music Association members, and about 300 "movers & shakers" in the music business. All told, over a thousand people voted in the second stage.

RG: How did you get started in radio?

DS: I went to school at Central in Ellensburg and I worked at the school station. I started at KJET [a former alternative rock station ED.] right out of school. I started part time as producer of the morning show, then went full time and became the Music Director. After KJET folded [Sept. '88] I sent tapes out to KISW, KXRX and the other rock stations. Finally KISW decided to bring me in to help set up the "New Music Hour".

RG: Recently a local station sold for $10 million, have the big money stakes changed things much?

DS: Definitely, things are calculated much more. National research is poured over, clocks and rotations are followed closely. There's no more free-form programming on commercial radio except a special show like "The New Music Hour". KISW is still programmed locally here at the station. Every Tuesday Steve Young, Dave Douglas, Mike Jones and myself get together and talk about the music and the new releases.

RG: How do you choose the music you play on the "NMH"?

DS: I try to find bands that might one day fit into the stations regular rotation. Steve Young or Mike Jones might suggest something that they think is going to become big in the future, or I might play an obscure cut by somebody already on our regular playlist. I want the show to have an alternative flavor, to let people hear new things. It's sort of a stepping stone between alternative college stations and a regular AOR [Album Oriented Rock] format. continued pg14

RG: Do you play much local music?

DS: I always play at least two local bands every show. Sometimes, like right before the NAMA show, I played local music throughout the show. When Soundgarden was in the studio with me I played a lot of them. I'd like to play more local stuff but I'm limited by time and by the recording quality of the tapes that are submitted.

RG: Do you have bands like Soundgarden in with you often?

DS: Definitely, I have touring bands coming in all the time. If their schedules wont allow them to come to the studio, I'll take a tape recorder backstage to their show and talk to them there.

RG: How big a part do listener requests play in programming?

DS: Well, they help me with the "New Music Hour" a lot. They give me an idea of what people are listening for. During our regular format requests from our current playlist are played often. Requests definitely effect how long a song stays in rotation.

RG: What are your personal favorite new releases from the past year?

DS: Definitely Soundgarden, I like the Red Hot Chili Peppers, the new Tom Petty and Faith No More a new band out of San Fransisco. More recent releases, I like Black Crowes-they're from Atlanta, and the singer from Drivin' & Cryin' s new solo album Kevn Kinney.

RG: It's been nice talking to you. Is there any thing else you'd like to say?

DS: Just that I don't think our station is given enough credit from the "Music Media". KISW and the other commercial rock stations get a lot of flack for not paying attention to local bands. It seems like they expect too much. They don't understand how corporate the business has become. Mike Jones and I both play a lot of local music. We've played a part in helping local bands like Alice in Chains and Son of Man get attention by major labels.

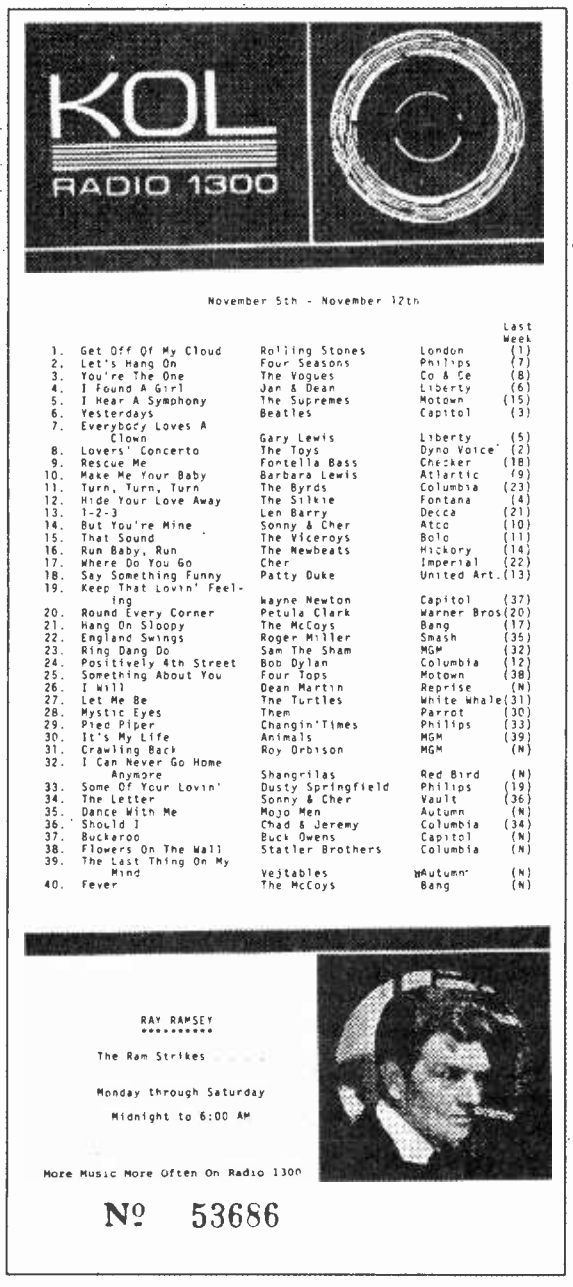
Radio Flashback

November 1965



- Seattle teen-R&B combo the Viceroys make their final chart appearance with "That Sound" on the local Bolo label. By '66 they were recording as the Surprise Package for CBS.
- KOL later gave way to Country KMPS 1300-AM.
- DJ Ray "The Ram" Ramsey went on to do weather forecasting for KOMO-TV.

Notes by Peter Blecha of the Northwest Music Archives.

MORNING TEAMS: ZIP or ZOO?

BY ERIC MATHISON

Once upon a time, the morning rock DJ was king. Alone on his throne behind the morning microphone, he broadcast to his admiring subjects. Men like Lan Roberts, Emperor Smith (he even had an imperial name), and Charlie Brown ruled the morning airwaves.

Then came the "music machine" era. If a station advertised 24 songs in a row without a commercial, it's competitor would promise 25 songs. Even the morning man just kept the music rolling.

Now the morning host(s) sound just like the friendly and funny people next door. Except instead of talking to their family members around the breakfast table, your radio neighbor is chatting with a sidekick, newsman, traffic reporter, producer or sports guy. KMGI features six people in the morning. KUBE has five.

What was once a solo DJ, occasionally talking with the newsman just before or after the news, has evolved into morning teams. While only a few stations feature teams we've come to pronounce like one word: CharlieandTy, KentandAllen, CrowandWest and the iGuys, almost all stations present a variety of people interacting during the morning drive-time.

How the teams formed and how they present their shows vary greatly. Both Charlie Brown and Ty Flint were unemployed when new station KUBE was formed. It was decided that the morning personality would also be the program director and would pick a partner. Brown was named PD and he hired Flint. Charlie & Ty went on the air in July 1981 and have been a fixture ever since. Charlie is the comedian with Ty as his straightman and the newsman. Mary White now reports traffic, producer Scott Burns contributes voices, sound effects and helps with comedy bits. A fifth person answers the phones. "our philosophy is that you can over prepare," Flint said. There are no "canned bits" and much of their material comes spontaneously from listener phone calls, according to Flint.

Kent & Alan have been teamed for eight years with the last four on KPLZ. They got together in Portland when Alan Budwill switched from middays to join morning newsman Kent Phillips. There are no defined roles where one is the funny guy and the other the straightman, says Budwill. "Everything is 50-50. We leave at the same time. We arrive at the same time. We're both working for the good of the show. Somebody should play the Wedding Song here. But don't get me wrong, we are all married with children".

Some bits are pre-taped, as is their Saturday morning show. They rely heavily on "observational humor." Budwill introduces the songs, Phillips does the news,and Renee Rhodes reports on traffic.

It was a long journey to mornings on KXRX for Crow and West. When Mike West returned from a L.A. radio station, and Crow's partner had left, they teamed up in the afternoons on KISW. Hoping to buy the station, the employees were "taken aback" when it was sold to an insurance company, Crow said. Crow & West, along with morning personalities Robin Ericson and John Maynard, switched to KXRX which was just starting up.

Last year KISW made Crow & West a "substantial offer" to return, Crow said. Meanwhile, Robin and Maynard tired of working mornings. Crow & West decided to stay at the "X", moving to mornings. They disdain "shock radio" and convey an image of "local hometown boys doing a good natured, good attitude program" according to Crow. He estimates they spend about eight to ten hours per week producing short bits. Characters featured on the show have built a strong following.

Bobby Rich is probably the only large city radio General Manager now on the air. Having grown up in this area, being one of KMGI's i-Guys has fulfilled a "childhood dream of being good enough to be on Seattle radio", he said. Previously, he was general manager and part of a four person morning team at KMGI's sister station in San Diego.

Rich, Kelly Stevens and Alpha Trivette present the image of fun, friendly guys sitting around the table, said Rich. They don't say their names on the air preferring to be like a band such as Chicago, where you may not know all their names but you enjoy their music. The i-Guys don't pre-tape any material and work with only a loose outline, he said. Joining the three i-Guys are Liz Sommers-news, Commander McFly-traffic and Storm Kennedy-weather.

Why the evolution to teams or multi-person shows? According to Seattle area program directors and personalities, increased competition means a need to increase the quality and quantity of entertainment in the morning, a more conversational style also means you need two or more people to talk to each other, and the fast pace of morning shows also demands two or more people.

"Mornings move" said Crow

"It sounds better. It takes two to do a high energy morning rock show" Alan Budwill said.

However, Pat O'Day, the legendary KJR radio programmer of the 1960's, disagrees about the need for multi person programs. He calls morning teams "radio's latest spasm." O' Day hired Lan Roberts, Emperor Smith and Charlie Brown. O'Day accuses current programmers of playing "follow the leader" and being "copy cats". In New York a "morning zoo" format successfully featured several people, while in Seattle, Charlie and Ty received excellent ratings. According to O'Day, that caused programmers to believe they needed morning teams too. "Some teams can be marvelous, but it bugs me when stations feel they must create teams", O'Day said. He commented on Lan Roberts, talented KJR and KOL DJ of the '60's, saying " Lan wouldn't be successful today because he was such an individual."

Counters Bobby Rich, who grew up listening to Roberts, "Pat O'Day as smart as he is...he's the Radio God...would figure out how to make Lan even better in this competitive situation, either alone or with others"

O'Day sees problems in the multi-person format. "You have three or four people fighting for their place in the sun. Everybody is paid to talk, so they want to. You get enormous clutter. One says something funny and everybody laughs on cue like a studio audience."

Clutter and people interrupting each other are signs of an undisciplined and unprepared show according to Bruce Murdock, KLSY morning personality.

"Everybody has their role" Flint said.

Another problem O'Day sees is putting so much of the emphasis on the morning program which leaves the rest of the day "a puddle of mediocrity". On some stations, 60-70% of the talent payroll is spent on morning performers, contends O'Day. It irritates him to have two morning personalities paid $100,000. per year a piece plus salaries for news and traffic reporters while an afternoon DJ is paid $30,000 and told not to be an entertaining personality. "Radio, at it's best, should provide nearly the same level of service whenever you turn it on." Complains O'Day about some radio stations, "you have the morning magpies and then all of a sudden at 10 am, (the station) turns into a music station."

MORNING TEAMS

KUBE's Ty Flint counters that surveys have shown listeners want personality in the morning and music during the day. "This is 1990, not 1964" Flint adds.

Some program directors insist their stations feature well paid, strong personalities throughout the day. Steve Young, KISW program director, estimates morning salaries at 20-30% of a stations payroll while morning advertising accounts for about 30-40% of advertising revenue. Advertising revenues are generally 25% higher for morning shows, says O'Day, but successful stations are sold throughout the day.

Everyone agrees that morning shows are very important to a station. Crow guesses morning shows attract twice as many listeners as the afternoon. Larry Sharp, KZOK program director, says the morning ratings should out perform the rest of the day by three to two.

Will morning teams and multi-person programs continue as a trend? KZOK's Larry Sharp predicts they that they will continue as a major force because "there are not many people talented enough to go solo in the morning."

Bob Ryan, who pioneered two-person teams in Seattle with his partner Gary Ryan in 1978, feels that two-person teams will continue but the "morning zoo" approach with larger groups will disappear because of economic restraints.

The dissenting voice again belongs to Pat O'Day. "It will be a fad for awhile until some station becomes number one with a great solo performer. Then the other stations will chase that."

INSIDE the GUIDE

Hello Readers,

I hope you've picked your copy up early in the month because there are lots of great specials happenning this Fourth of July you should know about. Among them; the annual fireworks display on Lake Union accompanied by the Seattle Symphony whose music will be broadcast during the display. Earlier in the day the 7th Annual Chicago Blues Festival will be on the air. See Best Bets on page 12 for all the details.

Included inside you will find all the programming information that we usually carry. Mike Tackett's comic strip "Radio Waves" is on page 8. I had mistakenly thought that hooking up my FM to the TV cable was ruining my reception untill I was informed the stations are sent down the cable at different frequencies than they are found on the airwaves. A chart with those different frequencies is here on page 24. Our "Radio Flashback" column features a KJR Fabulous Fifty chart from June 1963 on page 25. We are trying something new this month a Word Search puzzle. Give it a try, it's on page 11.

Our regular contributer, Eric Richardson, is on vacation this month. Look for his regular feature stories to resume next month. The Goodwill Games are coming to town this month and we are bringing you all the details of the radio coverage of the Games on page 5. The broadcast schedule of the games and all other sporting events (Mariners, Tacoma Tigers, NASCAR races etc.) are, as always, on page 24. A complete schedule of the Games is on page 26.

Have a happy Fourth of July, watch out for flying firecrackers, and enjoy the July Radio Guide

Good Listening

LETTERS FROM READERS

Dear Radio Guide,

Ever notice that all of the talk show hosts are liberals? Several of them claim to be "uncommited" or "politically independent", but a brief listen to any one of them will confirm their liberalism. I have often wondered if Seattle liberals would ever tire of totally one sided radio, but it seems that they posses an unlimited appetite for the latest gloom & doom social cause.

It looks like KING is banking their future on Seattle being an enclave of liberalism and the fact that it is not possible to bore a liberal with socio and psycho-babble from left field. Brian Jennings, their program director, admits to the liberal leanings of his staff. He claims not to be a liberal although everyone else at the station is. Brian hired one conservative, Rush Limbaugh, who was a scream to listen to. He made a brief appearance on the Seattle scene. With his "Excellence in Broadcasting" network, he was able to totally enrage the rest of the talk show hosts, whipping them into such a lather that he was removed from the line up in what looked from the outside like a move to placate the liberals on the staff who cannot bear to hear any opinion that is not theirs,

We may not ever hear what really went on when Limbaugh was removed from the line-up. Limbaugh enjoys great success in other markets. Next time you are in Moses Lake, tune in mid-mornings. Last time I heard him he described the demise of a Latin American dictator as "Having achieved the lifelong goal of reaching room temperature".

Sincerely,
P. Stephenson
The Lock-Spot, Ballard

Dear Reader

You don't need to travel to Mosses Lake to hear Rush Limbaugh. Tacoma's KLAY carries his show and they will be returning to the air sometime this month after changing their frequency to 1160 AM. Mr. Jennings replies " Rush is the most listened to man on the radio, with nation-wide ratings surpassing even Paul Harvey or Bruce Williams, but when he got into his vacum cleaner bit when talking about abortion (he would turn the vacum on when the topic was discussed) that was just bad taste. That was the last straw as far as I was concerned."

GOODWILL GAMES

Broadcasting in the Spirit of Goodwill

By Bruce Buckner

There seems to be a debate raging in Seattle's press between the ranks of Greater Seattle and Emmett Watson's Lesser Seattle. One group wants Seattlites to promote the virtues and livability of the city to the throngs of visitors coming to town for the Goodwill Games while the other group prays for rain and thinks all tourists should be required to take a tour of the 520 Bridge and the S-Curves on a Friday during rush hour. However, what both of these camps fail to realize is that most visitors are coming to see the games, and they don't really care about the state of Seattle one way or the other.

Rather then worrying about the influx of new-comers to the area the games may encourage, we should remember that these are the GOODWILL Games. Seattlites are being given the unique opportunity to meet and converse with visitors from forty-four participating countries as well as observers from many other countries. We should greet those travellers in the spirit of the games, the spirit of Goodwill. The primary interest of those guests is not going to be the annual rainfall in Seattle or our overpriced housing market. Their primary interest is going to be the games, and their countries participation in those games. Those among us who wish to be good hosts will want to monitor the progress of the games in order to be conversant with the thousands of vacationers joining us later this month. Since most of us won't be able to attend all the games or watch TBS for seventeen straight days, we should be grateful for KING 1090's coverage.

KING AM 1090 will be the exclusive radio station of the 1990 Goodwill Games taking place this month. A team of sixteen, producers, reporters, anchorpersons and play by play announcers have been hired to cover the games.

Live Reports will take place every half hour daily, and expect KING to break to Goodwill Game Vignettes from various sources throughout the day. KING's Goodwill Game Up-Date will take place every day at 4:30 followed by play by play coverage of team Games which will take place in the evening for the most part. When events occur simultaneously KING will take the "ESPN approach" cutting back and forth between events.

The three key people, according to KING programming chief Brian Jennings, are; Bob Robertson, a long time play by play sports announcer here in Seattle, he's currently the voice of the Cougars. He has U of W Husky experience and was a former play by play man for Notre Dame. Jimmy Jones is well known to local basketball fans as the Voice of the Seattle Supersonics. Barry Tomkins is a familiar name to those who watch ESPN. He will be coming to Seattle for KING after covering the French Open Tennis Tournament for the all sports network last month. His local roots go back to when he was a Voice of the Huskies on Seattle radio.

KING program director, Brian Jennings says " We're not just gearing up for a Mariner game, a Seahawk game or a Sonic game. This is a once in a lifetime event. It's the first time local radio has done play by play coverage of an international event like this. We saw it as an opportunity to participate in an event that, well, Seattle will probably never see anything like it again!"

Although most chauvinistic Seattlites don't realize it, the Goodwill Games are a state–wide event with events taking place as far away as Spokane. Other games occur in Kenniwick, Ennumclaw, Federal Way, Redmond and Tacoma. A reporter will be stationed at every athletic venue. No matter when it occurs, radio 1090 will be there live to report on any world records being set or championships being determined.

Here is a brief run-down of some of the events that KING will be covering between July 20th and August 5th :

Opening Ceremonies-KING will be covering the Opening Ceremonies on July 21st, 3pm at Husky Stadium with long time Seattle broadcaster and KING morning host, Bob Hardwick who will be joined by his morning show partner, Deb Henry.

Athletics-This is the term the Goodwill Games uses in reference to Track and Field events. Former U of W Track coach Allan Bonney will handle the broadcasting chores for AM 1090. July 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26 are the dates for the events, all taking place at Husky Stadium.

" We're not just gearing up for a Mariner game, a Seahawk game or a Sonic game. This is a once in a lifetime event."

Brian Jennings
King Program Director

IMPROVE YOUR RECEPTION

I always thought that the area I lived in was a bad radio reception area. Some of the lower powered stations in the area had a lot of static in them, and out of town stations were out of reach.

One night I was writing on my computer and trying to listen to a "problem" station. I decided to move the radio closer so I could turn the dial back and forth to follow the drifting station long enough to hear the rest of an interview. I plugged the radio into the computers power supply. BINGO! The station was clear as a bell, and the drift was gone!

It seems that most of the interference was coming through the power cord, and not the airwaves as I had thought. I tried the same thing with a closed circuit TV set-up that I had been having trouble with, it cleared up too.

The computer power supply has surge suppressors, and more importantly, it also has noise filters. This probably sounds like going to an extreme to have good radio reception, but it really isn't. My computer power supply only cost about $20., but recently a new product has come on the market. It is a power strip with surge suppressors in it (similar to the ones most hardware stores have been selling for years) but with one important innovation.

The big difference is the new ones also have noise filters that work as well as the computer devise, for around six dollars. I put them on all of the expensive electronic gizmos in my house. It didn't help my TV reception because I'm hooked up to cable, but it eliminated some annoying buzzing noises in my VCR. And, I can hear the distant stations again.

If you have trouble tuning in a clear signal, you might want to try a noise filter/surge suppressor. Aside from improving your reception, it could also save some very expensive stereo components in the event of a power surge.

Goodwill Games on the Radio

Baseball-Bob Robertson will be stationed at Cheny Stadium in Tacoma to handle the play by play for the Baseball competition, where every session will be a double-header. Running daily from July 26th thru the 31st, they will feature evening meets and afternoon sessions will also be held on the 27, 28, 29 and 31..

Basketball-The Seattle Center will be the site of the Basketball events with games taking place at both the Arena and the Colliseum. The US team will face stiff competition this year since we will be pitting our amatuer athletes against professionals from other nations. The 23rd, 24th, 25th, 27th and 29th are the dates of the competition. Jimmy Jones, the "Voice of the Sonics" has the experience and expertise to keep you in the action with his play by play announcing. He will be joined by Sam Lee.

Boxing-Sam Lee will also have responsibility for Boxing. Fights are scheduled at the Seattle Center from the 28th thru August 5th. Sam Lee is a former High School All-American and college star as well as a current major league ref.

Cycling-Paul Sorenson of Impact Sports will report on cycling at Redmond's Marymoor Park. He will cover Marymoor's Velodrome on the 28th and 29th.

Hockey-Tri-Cities will be the host for the preliminary rounds of hockey. Dave Akerly, Thunderbird announcing veteran, will be joined by Carlos Sosa at Kenniwick's Colliseum on July 27 thru August 3. The finals move to the Tacoma Dome on August 4 and 5.

Gymnastics, Judo, Rowing, Handball, Vollyball, Figure Skating, Water Polo, Swimming, Weightlifting, Wrestleing etc. will all be covered by KING-AM. Particular focus of the coverage will be the US vs USSR matches. In fact, the American team match ups will have first priority with KING's coverage of all the events, but rest assured with reporters on site at all the games you will be taken to any event whenever a record is broken or a championship is determined. KING is the only radio station in the country with the rights to live coverage of the games. They have been approached by other stations across the country wanting to "piggy–back" their broadcasts but Turner Broadcasting has only granted KING the rights to broadcast to Puget Sound. Jennings expects Goodwill coverage to take up about four or five hours per day. "So if anybody is interested in the athletic events taking place we will be offering a lot of details during that seventeen day period." For those of us that wish to converse with the visitors here for the games, KING's coverage will give us a plenty to discuss.

For KING'S Broadcast schedule see page 24.

INSIDE the GUIDE

Hello Readers,

Gee, it's August already and this makes six months that we have been publishing the Radio Guide. We really appreciate all the support we've received from you, our readers and now after half a year we would like to get some feedback from you to help to serve you better. So, on page 26, you will find a "Reader Survey". Please help us out by filling it out and mailing it back. Those of you that respond will receive a FREE Radio Guide Station Sticker, which is a map of the Seattle radio dial with all the stations, their frequencies and their formats. It is suitable for mounting on your car's visor so you can just flip down your visor to find any station on the dial.

In keeping with our tradition (which we started last month) of including a puzzle in each issue we present a Radio Guide Crossword on page 11. Steve Turner, the puzzle's author, would also apreciate some feedback. would you like the puzzle easier or more difficult ?

AM stereo was introduced several years ago with much fanfare, and many AM stations in our area began broadcasting in stereo, but it still hasn't grown to be the dominant force the industry predicted it would be. Richard Ericson takes a closer look at the format in his story AM Stereo; Will it ever grow up? on page 5.

With the baseball season only half over, football season has started up already! The American Bowl features the Seahawks and the Denver Broncos playing an exhibition game in Tokyo, Japan. See Best Bets on page 12 & 13 for all the details. All you baseball fans needn't worry though, the Mariners, the Tacoma Tigers and the Everett Giants are all still on the radio. All the sports schedules can be found on page 24.

LETTERS FROM READERS

Dear Mr. Richardson,

I recently received copies of the RADIO GUIDE from an acquaintance in Seattle. I think it's great that there is a magazine devoted to radio listeners. I hope you are very successful.

In the interest of journalistic integrity, however I would like to inform you that the Z-rock format is not the brainchild of Lee Abrams. And he is most certainly not regarded as the "godfather of FM Album Oriented Rock radio" by any of my contemporaries in comercial broadcasting.

The Z-rock format was devised and implemented by a freind of mine who is known as "Wild Bill" Scott. Bill devised the Z-rock name and format and was program director for the network from it's inception until two years later when Abrams was brought in to make the format "more comercially acceptable". Today's Z-rock is a pale shadow of the original sound. Lee Abrams is known in the broadcasting industry as a very successful consultant. His various formats are all quite trite and predictable and are based on a "play the hits" policy. As far as I know, he has never done anything exciting or original in radio although he controls the sound of hundreds of stations. Your reference to Abrams as the "godfather of AOR radio" is a great disservice to the man who started album-oriented rock, Tom Donahue.

Sincerely,
Norman Davis
Grants Pass, Or.

AM STEREO

Will it ever grow up?

By Eric Richardson

In a previous article concerning the present state of AM radio, a reference was made to the unfulfilled promise of AM stereo. This prompted an impassioned response from a reader who informed us of the high quality AM stereo sound available on several stations for the privileged few equipped to receive and decode the stereophonic signal. We decided to explore this further in hopes of discovering why AM stereo is such a well kept secret in radio.

By the late seventies and early eighties, it became apparent to the radio industry that FM was more than a passing fad and was on the verge of eclipsing AM in audience size, particularly for contemporary music formats. FM signals not only had the advantage of stereo, but also a wider band width that made AM sound muddy by comparison. However AM 's advantage was was in the signals ability to not be distorted by objects such as hills and buildings between the transmitter and the receiver; which caused annoying distortion on FM. This problem was (and is) of particular concern in hilly cities such as Seattle and San Francisco.

The introduction of AM stereo in the early eighties gave AM music stations the hope of leveling the playing field; maybe the sound wasn't as crystal clear, but with stereo and less distortion they could hold their own against FM. Once dominant stations such as KJR were willing to try anything to stop the continued defection of their listeners to the FM band.

Unfortunately, AM stereo got off to a somewhat rocky start. This was mainly due to the simultaneous introduction of three separate, incompatible systems from which stations had to choose, in hopes that their choice would emerge as the industry standard. Being the peak of the deregulation era, the FCC was unwilling to step in and declare one system winner over the others. Needless to say, most stations took a "wait and see" attitude.

The biggest problem, however, was with the consumer electronics industry. Radios simply were not being manufactured in any significant numbers with AM stereo receivers. The manufacturers were taking the same "wait and see" approach. By the time the Motorola C-Quam system finally emerged victorious, much of the initial enthusiasm for AM stereo had disappeared.

Still, some stations persevered and invested in AM stereo, including the previously mentioned KJR. The move had little or no effect on the stations ratings; in fact, they experienced some of their darkest hours while broadcasting in AM stereo. Eventually, it was determined that it had a negative effect on their ability to reach outlying fringe areas, and the station reverted to a monaural signal after they retained the rights to the Supersonics live broadcasts and switched their format to "classic hits".... music that was never intended to be heard in stereo on the radio.

Currently, the largest proponent of AM stereo is KOMO-AM 1000. Program Director Michael Batelli admits that a fairly small percentage of his listeners listen in AM stereo, but he sees that number increasing in the foreseeable future. He claims that an increasingly number of factory installed car radios are being equipped with AM stereo receivers, including all Chrysler products. KOMO also has the advantage of a 50,000 watt signal as opposed to KJR's 5,000 watts, so they are less likely to suffer in the fringe areas.

The greatest obstacle to AM stereo remains with the consumer electronics industry. In a very recent visit to

Scott Ingram is the latest addition at KLTX

K-Lite Acquires Two New Air Personalities

Scott Ingram left Portland's number one Adult Contemporary station to join Seattle's KLTX. He will be the new 10am to 3pm host ae well as make personal appearances on behalf of K-Lite.

Ingrams background includes twelve years experience at various Oregon stations. Most recently, Ingram worked for K-103 FM in Portland, Oregon. Glen Martin, Program Director for K-Lite, says "Ingram has a proven track record of success as an air personality. He seemed a natural for us."

Ingram says he's delighted to join K-Lite. "I'm very pleased to discover the cohesiveness of the people here. I look forward to many years with K-Lite."

Also recently added to KLTX's staff of on-air personalities is Sandy Hamilton. Hamilton was a part of Seattle's legendary KJR/KOL battles in the mid-seventies. Most recently, he was programmer for the "Mega" format with Braiker Radio Services. Hamilton joins K-Lite to anchor the weekend shifts 10am-3pm.

Martin adds, "I'm delighted we could entice them both to join the great mix of talent we already have on K-lite."

- After the demise of KZAM's "Rock of the 80's" new wave format, KYYX jumped into the breach with it's "Wave of the 80's".

- KYYX was launched by Northwest radio guru Pat O' Day and featured ace DJ Steve Rabow.

- KYYX backed the Variety Club Dance-A-Thon that month with local bands including Big Fun and the Heats.

- KYYX only lasted a couple of years. KXRX currently broadcasts at 96.5 FM

The greatest obstacle to AM stereo remains with the consumer electronics industry. A recent visit to Magnolia Hi-Fi's home and mobile audio stores proved that not one single product in their inventory was equipped to receive AM stereo. Obviously, no great public demand will exist for AM stereo broadcasts if nobody can decode it.

For those of you fortunate enough to have AM stereo receivers, here are the AM stations listed in the Radio Guide which broadcast in stereo:

KTAC.....850
KOMO.....1000
KBSG.....1250
KJUN.....1450

KING-AM recently dropped their stereo broadcast for the same reasons as KJR's - they felt it was impairing their coverage in outlying areas.

Does AM stereo have a future? The jury is still out and many are somewhat pessimistic, but new technological innovations may yet rescue the AM dial, as rumblings are begining of a digital AM system being developed that could put FM back on the defensive. Until then, the majority of music radio listeners are likely to keep their radios tuned to FM.

INSIDE the GUIDE

Hello Readers,

It's back to school time again and the days are getting shorter. I'd like to thank everybody for returning our Reader Survey from last month. We were overwhelmed by the response but you should be receiving your radio stickers within the next week. For those of you that haven't sent your surveys back to us yet, IT'S NOT TOO LATE! As a result of the survey we've made a few changes in the Guide and you can expect more changes to follow shortly.

Only one or two of you listed the live entertainment listings as being important too you and lot's of people requested more stories. So, we dropped the entertainment listings and added a piece of radio fiction by a new writer named Chris Schneider. We hope to include even more stories as well as articles about radio personalities and technical tips in coming issues. If there are people out there who miss the entertainment listings, drop us a letter and we'll see what we can do about restoring them.

As always we have our Radio Waves comic strip on page 8 and Steve Turners Radio Guide Crossword is on page 14.

STATION NEWS

Following the sale of KNUA to Brown Broadcasting earlier this summer, the stations call letters have just been changed to KKNW. Station Management has also changed - Station Manager Shelly Owens has been replaced by Dennis Gwiadon and Program Director Ralph Stewart's position has been filled by Nick Francis. KKNW will continue to program new adult contemporary music and other than the call letters listeners shouldn't notice much difference in the station.

The Jack Straw Foundation will be back on the air again sometime before the end of the year. The FCC granted the foundation a construction license to begin station KSER. KSER has six months to begin broadcasting from a tower that will be built north of Lynnwood.

KRAB, the station originally owned by the group, was Seattle's first listener supported station. Known for it's progressive and eclectic programming, it's frequency at 107.7 Mhz. was sold in 1984.

The new station will be based in Snohomish county but many shows will be produced at the Jack Straw Foundation's production facility which is under construction in Seattle. The Foundation plans to produce radio theater and children's shows at the facility. They also plan to train new volunteers there.

KSER plans to rely heavily on volunteers. The station's schedule will include experimental programming, unclassic classics, world music, children's shows, folk music and whatever quality music motivated volunteers want to broadcast. According to Nancy Keith, KSER's new station manager, several staff members have been hired but the station still needs another 50 to 70 volunteers.

In related news KEZX has a new station manager, Well known broadcaster "Peg" Dempsey is now manager of both the AM and FM sides. Peg ran KBRD/KTAC for the last four years.

KING is up for sale, the news has been in all the daily papers. The current owners plan to devote their time to environmental work.

KSEA has won the prestigious International Gold Medalion Award from the Broadcast Promotion and Marketing Executives Association for their Soft 'n Light spot.

LETTERS FROM READERS

Dear People,

After hearing about your publication for a few months I finally got to see a copy at the station where I host the reggae show - CITR 101.9 (UBC) Vancouver. Since here at home (Salt Spring Island) I primarily listen to Seattle FM stations... I wish to subscribe to the Radio Guide. I hope the US rates apply to Canada.

I also happen to be an FM program consultant and am involved in the technical end of broadcasting undertakings. I would like to compliment you on your EXCELENT efforts made to achieve accuracy. I would like to make some corrections though.
KLAY 1180 Khz - My FCC microfiche shows that KLAY has been granted II80 khz on a daytime basis, not 1160 kHz as you indicate. I believe they have been granted very low power status between sunset & 6am, thus not making it practical to broadcast during the dark hours. Daytime power is 10,000 watts, directional.
KISM 92.9 - Easy Listening!?!?! This came as a total surprise! KISM is a CHR (Contemporary Hits Radio) formatted station. with live morning and afternoon drive shows - other times it is automated. Also no news or talk (unlike their AM KGMI, which is easy listening, news and talk)

Again, what an excelent publication. Vancouver could certainly use such a publication. Also, I know this will screw up your grid system, but please consider includuing listings for KXXO 96.1, Olympia (AC), KUGS 89.3, Bellingham, (ALT) and KGHP 89.3, Gig Habor, (CHR, Alt.)

Thank You, Regards
Mike Cherry

Breaking The Airwaves

By Bruce Buckner

Aug. 21 1990- One of the most powerful and successful record promoters of the 1980's went on trial today charged with racketeering and providing payola to radio stations. Joseph Isgro was charged with 57 counts of making "illicit and illegal payments" to radio stations in order to get certain records he was promoting on the air. Mr. Isgro's clients included Columbia, Warner Bros., RCA and Polygram records and the manager of one LA radio station has already pleaded guilty to receiving around $100,000 a year for playing Isgro's records.

With the major labels laying out that kind of cash to stations across the country, do local bands have any chance at all of breaking the national airplay charts? We investigated three artists and/or their record labels who have successfully broken the radio charts to discover how they did it. Lara Lavi has her own label-Cody Records, Nirvana is a local band on the Sub Pop label, and we spoke with the label of one of the biggest NW successes-Nasty Mix Record's Sir Mix-A-Lot.

Lara Lavi is Seattle's only attorney/pop singer. She formed Cody Records (Cody is her dog) following the recording of her debut album. Her album has been played on over thirty radio stations across the country and she was voted best new Northwest artist at the last NAMA Award Ceremony.

"The first thing you need is a product that can go on the air, and not very much can go on the air" says Lara Lavi. "We spent a pile of money to make a good recording. We spared no expense and I'm completely fanatic about detail. We came up with something that could compete on a national level. Lavi also stresses the importance of the packaging of the product matching the format. "It's expensive to get on the radio and it's expensive to compete with Sting and Peter Gabrial and whoever else is hot right now. So you need to make yourself look like you are Sting, not just in terms of sound but what your package looks like. You have to give them a reason to open it. I mean, why should they open it?"

Lara continues, "When we finished recording we realized this wasn't going to be 'Grunge 'O' Rama'. You're dealing with trying to figure out which format you fit in when you're looking at radio. You have to be realistic, I'm not going to be on KUBE radio and I'm not going to be on KCMU. I'm best friends with the guy who runs KCMU (Chris Knab) but he can't put me on the air because we don't play 'Fuck the Bunny.' If you want to break into radio you'd better be familiar with what's on the radio, so you're not living in fairyland. If you are independent you have to identify every station that might play you. There are lots of lists of all the stations and their formats at the library and other places. We put a couple of researchers on that."

"Given you have a good product and you've done your market research so you know which stations are likely to play you, then you have to deal with getting it out there. Here is where you encounter a vicious circle that is very difficult to break into and the circle is the same whether you are talking about breaking locally, regionally or nationally - it's the same circle, it just gets wider." The circle Ms. Lavi refers to is the impossible task (at least for a small independent label) of simultaneously getting distribution into all the retail outlets and persuading the program directors of the appropriate stations to add your record to their playlists.

Unfortunately, most distributors don't want to carry your product unless it has airplay to help promote and sell it. And most Program Directors won't program your music unless it's available to their listeners in the stores. However Lavi feels that the radio stations are the place to try to break into the circle.

"The thing about radio that's different from the big labels, the distributors and publishers in the vicious circle is Program Directors. I've found that Program Directors are, for the most part, lunatics. They're not evil guys, but they are bombarded with product. I have a lot of respect for them." The program director is responsible for deciding what gets played but he is also responsible for maintaining the stations ratings and there is a lot of money riding on those rating points. "You have to send your record out to every station and follow through with phone calls, you have to call every Program Director. I have a thing that I do which has helped me a lot. Whenever they put me on the air, I send them daisies. We do things with a lot of class and it helps them remember me. Then there are people who are flukes out there, like Ralph Stewart, the PD at KNUA, he kept me on the air for a year. He was very supportive, very helpful. When they charted us for Billboard it gave us a big push. [Editors Note: Ralph Stewart was let go by the new ownership of KNUA, now KKNW this August.] Stations like KNUA and particularly KEZX are so precious, they are soooo precious and few because most stations are programmed nationally by corporations who just use the charts and have no clue about music, their sole interest is trying to sell whatever it is the advertiser is trying to sell.

"There is a massive amount of work required to get attention from Program Directors. I'm right up there at 4 am with my people licking envelopes, putting postage on things and sending it out. Program Directors get stacks of CD's everyday and most of the time you're competing for slots that the majors have already filled. So if you get on any stations at all as an independent you should be very proud of yourself." The stations aren't interested in giving the public something new or different according to Lavi. "The only time they play anything different, have you noticed, is on Sunday night at Midnight. I mean I don't know a lot of people who are up at Sunday Night at Midnight. The only ones I know of are musicians-who aren't working. If we are really commited to new music then we should be playing it at times when people will actually hear it and if it takes a while to recondition the public to get used to listening to different things, then we should gently do that because, well, we're creating mono-genetic corn, and mono-genetic apples and we're doing it with music. Commercialism is rampant."

"Our distributor was Precision Sound and they had a great woman named Cathy who was really able to work Adult Alternative radio. She worked our record and got us on over thirty stations across the country. What she did is what you pay mass bucks to a consultant to do. There are quite a few Radio Consultants out there, if they like your stuff or you pay them enough money they'll pump it, people like Mike Carlson here in town, Mike has about 300 stations he works with. It's sort of absurd, because the reason why these consultants have developed was to put some middle ground between the labels and the radio stations to avoid some of the payola issues. So instead of paying off the poor PD, you're paying the consultant to tell the PD! So it's the same payola in a lot of ways."

"Payola, what's that?" asks "Nasty" Nes Rodriguez, a former DJ who used to perform with Sir Mix-A-Lot but now devotes himself fulltime to promotion at Nasty Mix Records. "Nasty" Nes was responsible for Sir Mix-A-Lot's Swass release becoming the first independent record from the NW to go "Gold" since Louie Louie. "Radio," says Nes, "is looking for something that everyone can relate to, not some bragadocious rap, but a funny story or a love song. If everyone can relate to it then it can be programmed on the radio." Nes promotes to black/urban stations first even though he finds more success with rap at contemporary hit stations. "I wanted to get an urban base first because with rap if you break on Top 40 first, your main hard-core audience will label you a sell-out. We want to show respect to the black community. But hey man, what can you do? It's the urban radio programmers who are reluctant to break rap." (Cont. pg. 26)

WLN: WHALENS FINEST

By Chris Schneider

"Hi, We're back and welcome to it. This is WLN's own talk show. I'm your host, Brian Daniels. The topic again is relationships and we welcome your calls. Right now there seems to be a caller on the line so let's get to it. Hello you're on the air.

"Hello, my name is Marcia and I've been puzzling over relationships all week. I'm thinking I've come to some conclusions here but I'd like to know what you think of them"

"Yes Marcia, go ahead."

"Well, it all started when I started examining my life with vs without a relationship. I'm pretty sure that the sanest I've been in my life-all the sane times of my life- were when I was not in relationships. And that's not to say that relationships drive me crazy; It's to say that I myself would go a little crazy and then get into a relationship. You see what I'm saying?"

"I think so. And you were feeling like, perhaps, you are not open to stable relationships?"

"No no, not that really at all. The thing is that I'm in a relationship now and one of the reasons that I started into it was because I felt pretty sane at the time. I can see now how I rushed into it; to finally be in a relationship when I was sane... and I started wondering if, maybe, I was tricking myself into believing I was sane because I basically feel more comfortable being insane. I mean, it sure is a lot easier to be able to depend on someone, to have your needs met, but I know I don't like the memory of being insane. How do you know your not tricking yourself?"

"Well, a question for you; why is it that you, uh, feel uncomfortable, uh, depending on someone or having your needs met?"

"Well in the first place, I don't feel 'uh-uncomfortable-uh' about the word insanity. A lot of my friends are psychiatrists and most of the others have been through therapy. The words 'sane' and 'insane' are valid words and describe precisely the states of mind I wish to discuss. Now, as to your question, I don't think it is really insane to have your needs met; I just think it's important for, um, completion, or - like - for - to be a whole person that not all your needs get met. I mean, if all your needs are met, then either you're cheating yourself out of growth or you're just lying to yourself, and the real ones that aren't being met are just bubbling under the surface, you know? See, I think that I always do that - the last one."

"OK, I think I see your point. Uh, well it is, I think, important to know that all your needs are not going to be met by any one person except yourself - and I think you know that, but maybe try to forget it when you get into..."

"Well, that's sort of it. You have to be able to depend on someone, or, you know, I think what really makes it a loving relationship is that you give credit to the other person to be able to meet your needs. I mean, if you accept that you are the only person that can meet your needs, then people, I think, become just flat, just sort of reflective boards that you use to manipulate and...you know, let's be realistic that's most of life right there - hearing what you asked people to bounce back at you. But, you know, for a loving relationship, you have to flesh the other person out, let him be in 3-D, and say 'Here are are some needs of mine that I am probably capable of meeting, but you do it, and I'll do thew same for you, you know?"

"Yes, exactly, and you know, that's where communication is so important. That view, I think, is certainly not insane, but definitely a risky one. Your initial concern was whether or not you were tricking yourself into believing you were sane so that you could go back to insanity, correct?"

"Yes"

"My question to you is this - If, in fact, you know now the times of your life when you were sane and those that you were insane, did you actually feel, at the times you were insane, that you were? And if so, where was your philosophy of personal three- dimensionalizing at the time?"

"Well, that philosophy is very recent...I mean, tonight was the first time I ever vocalized it, to tell the truth. Now, um, the bit about did I know it at the time is... uh .. sort of a tough one, I mean, I never really thought about it... uh ..I'd have to.. uh...

"I'll tell you what. You hold the line and think about it for two minutes and we'll be right back. Your listening to WLN, the number is 555-6943, the topic is relationships. This is Whalen's

The top twenty songs are computed weekly by KOL and reflect an unbiased, accurate report based on RETAIL record sales in the Greater Seattle Metropolitan Area.

- One of the numerous versions of the NW classic Louie, Louie appears at number 15 on the chart performed by ex local DJ Rockin Robin' Roberts who was a former singer for the Wailers and taught at Oregon State University. He died in a car wreck years later.
- Among the DJ's working at KOL at the time, was Ron Bailie, known for his Ron Bailie School of Broadcasting
- KOL's frequency, 1300kHz, now belongs to Country KMPS

"Nasty" Nes credits his experience in radio with Swass' success on the airwaves. "I was programming K-Fox [KKFX] radio for a long time, I was the Music Director and Assistant Program Director out there. A lot of record labels used to call me up pushing their records, wanting me to add the records in my reports to Billboard and R&R (Radio and Records). I remember the things they use to say to me on the phone. They would go as far as sayin 'Come on, Nes, if you don't add this record my boss is going to fire me! Come on man, be a Homey, be a true friend'. They would beg and stuff." Nes continues, "I just utilized what I learned being on the radio side of record promotion. I learned a lot from twelve years in radio and I'm still in radio ,doing the Rap Attack program on KCMU so I can keep my finger on what the people want to hear, and I still get promoters calling me to play their records"

According to Nes, "Your typical radio programmer is a guy in his thirties or forties, wearing a suit and a tie, he doesn't hang out on the streets drinking 'Old English' with the brothers. He's a conservative adult and the way he programs the music is he looks at the Billboard or R&R charts and sees what's on there and who's playing it and that's what sets the trend. For the most part, the programmers aren't leaders, they're followers. The charts definitely effect a lot of programmers decision of what they are going to play. So the stations that report to Billboard are my priorities. For example right now I'm working on a new Kid Sensation single called Seatown Ballers. Kid used to be with Sir Mix-a-Lot and this first week we picked up eleven Billboard stations and six R&R stations which means we had more reports than groups like Cameo, Michael Bollin and even George Michaels. The charts give you a good idea of how well your doing with radio."

"Selling a record is alot like selling a car" Rodriguez says "I have tracking sheets that contain the stations, their phone numbers, what city they're in and the names of the program directors and music directors or rap DJ. I just call them all up at least once a week. You've got to tell them why they should play it, and tell them who else is playing it around the nation especially if some one else in their area is playing it. You have to overcome their objections if they have any. It's just a matter of calling them up every week and hounding them" "But", cautions Nes, "you have to have some ammunition. You need to be able to cite some chart action or retail action or even video action. If you have a video that really helps get your record played. We send out copies of the video to all the stations as well as all sorts of other promo stuff, things like hype sheets [press releases] key chains with Sir Mix-A-Lot's name on them and T-shirts."

When asked about consultants Nes replied "It's funny, Posse on Broadway was our first single and our biggest success and I did that one all by myself but we have hired independent promoters on some of Sir Mix-a-Lot's other records. They do what I do only on a grander scale. We usually use them after we've crossed over to Top 40 radio. Top 40 radio is so big that it can be too much for me to handle all by myself and usually these promoters have established a good relationship with a large number of stations. Sometimes they help and sometimes they don't. We used one with Mix-A-Lots single Beepers with some success but it didn't help much with Iron Man another cut by Mix-a-Lot. You have your ups and downs, when Iron Man wasn't doing as well as we expected, I was thinking 'Oh man, what am I doing in this business' but if your record goes Gold or Platinum you get psyched up and you just love where your working and what your doing."

Sub Pop Records avoids the entire issue of consultants and payola by taking a "grass roots" aproach to promotion. Because they specialize in alternative rock and "new" music, they concentrate their efforts on the college stations and other small alternative stations. Sub Pop is recognized as the label that has promoted the "Seattle Grunge Sound" to national prominence. One of their biggest current successes is with the group Nirvana. Nirvana has been charted on nearly 200 stations across the country.

Acording to Phil Weatherill, radio promotion director at Sub Pop, they try to start their promotion by reaching the trendsetters. One of they ways they do that is by introducing a new band via their "Single of the Month Club" The singles are released in very limited numbers making them quickly become collectors items. This in turn helps create a demand for more material from the groups. All singles of the month are sent out to the alternative college stations and, says Phil "are almost guarenteed radio play" Radio helps promote the bands but isn't nessisarily the most important factor with alternative rock. Touring is also very important and should coincide with radio play. Phil says "right now Nirvana stuff is getting lots of airplay on the college stations in Florida, so that's an indication to us to set up a tour right away and step up distribution down there. The Fluid are big in the Mid East, we find that out from the radio stations."

> "The more people you can suck up to the better"
> Erica Hunter, Head of Publicity Sub Pop Records

"Another good way to break is through the music journals, for example all the alternative rock DJ's read CMJ (College Music Journal) so a good review in CMJ almost guarantees airplay across the country. Nirvana got a review on their 'Bleached' album, that gave them a real big push."CMJ also contain charts of what's hot and being played across the country. "Sub Pop has a lot of weight to throw around with the college stations. Nirvana has been charted on nearly two hundred stations".

Erica Hunter head of publicity at Sub Pop says what a band has to do to break nationally is "Tour incessantly, just tour, tour ,tour and do lots of interviews wherever you play. That's what a band has to do. Tour and be nice to all the DJ's. The more people you can suck up to the better." A lot of Sub Pop bands make the jump from alternative college stations to commercial radio when a major label takes notice of their success on an independent label like Sub Pop, signs them and then repeats the process on a larger scale. Bands like Soundgarden and Sonic Youth have successfully made this jump. To sum it all up, Phil says "good product, a lot of touring, being nice to people and making friends everywhere, and lots of interviews are the basics necessary to break."

... This is Whalen's finest."

AT THE INTERNATIONAL HOUSE OF PANCAKES "WAITING" IS A FOREIGN TERM....

"Marcia, are you still on the line?"

"Right here, Sugar"

"You have exactly two minutes to tell me just what the hell you're doing tonight. And don't tell me your helping my ratings."

"Well, I'm doing what you asked me to do. I'm giving your audience something to think about. And , like you told me, I'm relaxing because there's no one listening anyway. Are you coming home tonight?"

"I don't know. Listen, sanity was not in the script. Tonight we are supposed to talk about communication in a relationship. I've got some good things to say about it. Can you please steer the question back to the script?"

"Communica... If you've got such good things to say about it, how come I'm always talking to the damn radio? I swear, I've been so damn bored with you lately that I invited an old, old friend of mine over tonight."

"You inv - did he come over?"

"Come over? I just had to walk down to the corner and pick him up. Johnny Walker's with me. In his little red suit."

"Oh God, have you had much to drink?"

"Not much, Brian, not much. See, I've been pretending he was you for a little while, and it's like I can hardly put my lips on him anymore. He's definitely not as strong as he first was, though. I must have taken something from him"

"Look, you know the rules. No, I'm not coming home tonight. Shit, I'm on. I'll call you tomorrow. Don't do anything stupid"

"Stupid-"

"Hi, you're listening to WLN, Whalen's finest. The topic is relationships and you are on the air....Go ahead caller... Caller are you there?"

"Yeh, um, yeh hello?"

"Hello, you're on the air. Go ahead"

"Yeh, this is sort of about relationships... I mean scientifically.. um.. is a man physically heavier when he has an erection? I mean, well, slightly at least?"

"You mean because of the expansion? No, all that is already in the body. Mostly it's blood."

"Blood? Damn, it's a wonder I don't faint then, because it must take a quart to..

"Live radio folks! Something for everyone, I suppose. Marty, start writing those letters of apology. Now seriously we have plenty of time left. Is there anyone who has...ah, go ahead caller, you're on the air"

"Yeah, what do mosquitos eat when they're not eating me?"

"Cats. Thank you sir. Do we have any questions about relationships? Here's a caller. Go ahead you're on the air"

"Hi Brian, it's me, Marcia. We must have gotten cut off."

"Marcia, what happened to you? We thought you'd hung up. Of course, we do try to limit each person to one call per night."

"Come on, Brian, you don't have any other calls."

"Heh-heh, well, I guess you've got me there. What can I do for you?"

"Well, Brian, I'm having trouble with this bit about flat vs 3-d relationships. I mean how do you know you can stop treating people flatly just by saying so? How do you know if there's something inside? And who cares if you're three dimensional if you're hollow inside?"

"You sure are thinking a lot tonight, Marcia. If your worried about the existence of mind - and I'm no philosopher - but I wouldn't worry about it if I were you."

"No. No, not mind, Brian, but soul. That's what's missing.

" OK, Marcia, that's interesting. We, of course, only have an hour of show here and, certainly, people have been arguing for centuries over the existence of a soul. Tonights topic is relationships if we could steer the..."

"Well, lets do this - let's say there is a relationship wherein one person thinks up clever things to say and then has his girlfriend pose these thoughts as questions. Now let's say there are two reasons for this: a) he's too insecure to voice his own ideas which he cares about, and b) it's an ego trip for him to have his friends think his smart girlfriend respects and believes the answers he gives. Now here's the question: Who has less soul? The guy who does this or the woman who lets him?"

"Uh, yes, I see what you're getting at, and, uh, it's uh..."

" Because personally I couldn't stand to live the lie that I have no soul."

"I don't really think that's the question here, Marcia. I mean, maybe it's just a simple matter of both of you having a lot of growing up to do. Not that there is anything wrong with having a lot of growing up to do, we all do."

"Well yeah, Bry, I'll tell you, there probably is a lot of growing up to be done, but don't you ever get tired of spending your life growing up? I mean, let's just say the time comes when you want to stop growing up and just be grown up. I'm thinking that that moment comes with a big trade off. Tit for tat and then you realize what the tit was all about and you laugh about it. I'll tell you, earlier tonight, I had a bottle inside of me. Let's keep it on the radio, but I did you know? And the answer to your question you posed long ago is this. No, you don't really know you are insane when you commit insane acts. You just feel an immense freedom and a rush of... hey guess what... three dimensionality. You're a human and you can do this. So there I am with this bottle..

"Marcia? You're being real honest and we appreciate that, but let me ask you an honest question. Have you ever spent any time in a mental institution?"

Well, Bry, you know I have. And that is just a cheap shot which shows how little you understand. I did and that's private enough. But what I did with the bottle is the important thing.. Hang on a second, Bry.."

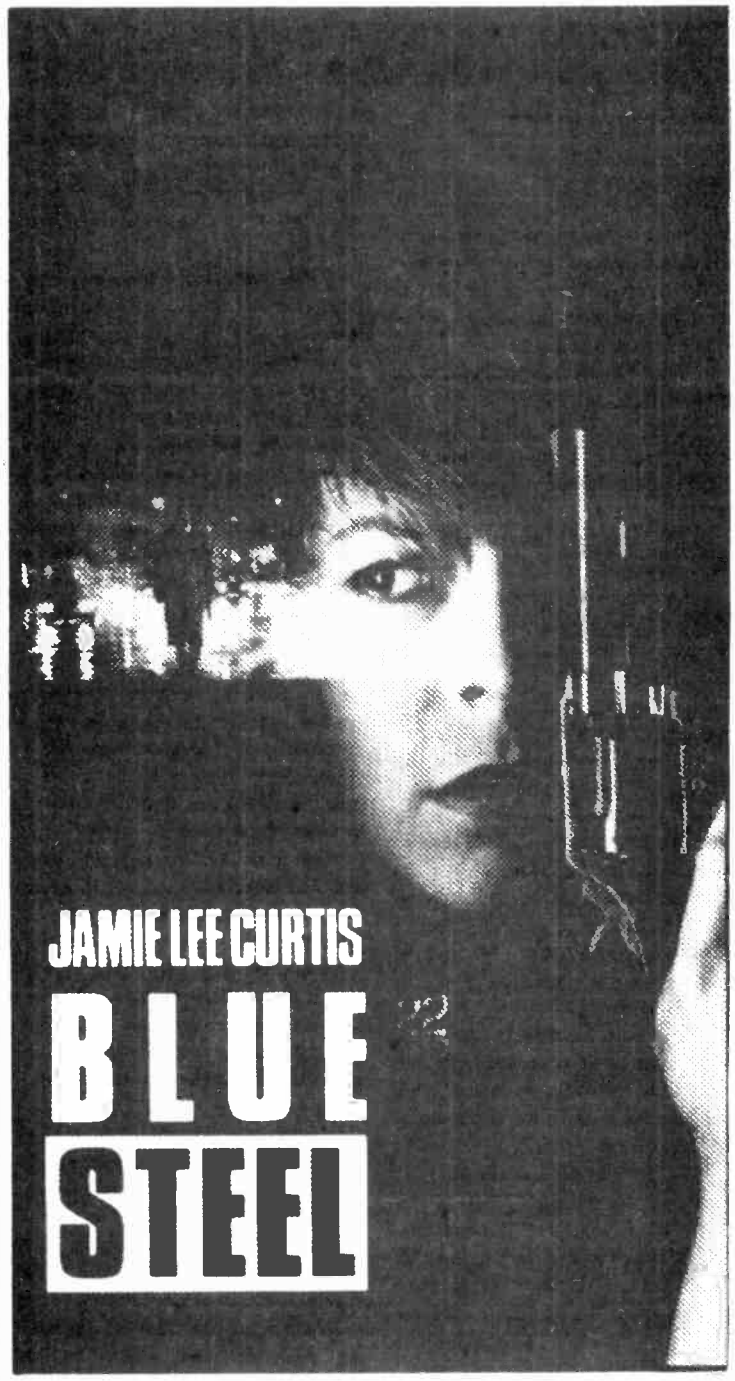
"Bry? You still there?"

"Well my phone is lighting up..."

"Stow it, Bry. Listen, what I did later was the real trade-off. The growing up for the grown up. The first part was that I poured the rest of the bottle of scotch all over this book/trophy case and then lit it. You see what I'm saying? And right now I'm watching this thing burn. I'm watching this trophy which was supposed to be brass just catch fire and melt. It was originally shaped like an old-timey microphone, but now it just looks like a gold and black blob of plastic. See what I'm saying, Bry?"

"And yeah - the grown up part comes when I put out the fire so the whole building doesn't go up - which come to think of it, I'd better do now. Then of course, I'm going to find some salve and then get the hell out of Whalen, Iowa. Bye bye, Bry. (click)."

"And bye-bye young lady. Say is there a full moon out there tonight, fellahs? Man oh man, folks I promise that's over. Stay tuned for a change of scenery here on Whalens Finest, WLN.



FOR A ROOKIE COP, THERE'S ONE THING MORE DANGEROUS THAN UNCOVERING A KILLER'S FANTASY. BECOMING IT.

Jamie Lee Curtis (A Fish Called Wanda) stars in this tightly strung, psychological action thriller about a female cop trapped in a steel web of romance, revenge and murder. Ron Silver (Enemies: A Love Story) co-stars as a smooth-talking commodities broker by day . . . and crazed madman by night.

INSIDE the GUIDE

Hello Readers,

'Tis the season to tune in your radios as there will be a wealth of Holiday programming this month. There are programs being broadcast for Christmas, Hanukkah and even the Winter Solstice. To bring in the New Year, KBCS will be broadcasting The Grateful Dead's annual New Years bash from the Oakland Coliseum and KPLU will be travelling across the time zones to catch the midnight festivities as they occur in New York, New Orleans and California - jazz style. See page 5 for all the Christmas Specials and New Years programming can be found on page 12.

Want to test your radio IQ? We listened to nine different stations long enough to hear ten songs and wrote them down. Identify which stations played which group of songs and YOU could be a WINNER! Of Course, you don't actually win a prize or anything, but you do get the satisfaction of knowing whether you're right or not. See page 26 for the test.

In our technical corner, we are offering an article by Mike Cherry on improving your reception with an outdoor FM antenna. You know, those things you used to have on your roof before they installed cable? In fact, you may want to try hooking that old roof-top TV antenna up to your FM receiver. You could be surprised at the results! See page 10 for more information.

Station News

KEZX-FM has a new Program Director, Wes Longino, who is replacing Peyton Meys. Peyton jumped the "Easy listening" ship to take over morning duties on the air at KKNW, whose format we're sure is more to his tastes. Speaking of KEZX, a wake was held at the Backstage November 25th. A packed house heard DJ's Carol Handley and TJ Kiloren speak a few words for the bereaved and Brian Butler, Like Rain and Rumours of the Big Wave performed. Vic Orlando has left KBSG's morning shift and he can now be heard 10-3 on KUBE. Kim Wilson has taken over as Chet's partner on KBSG. "Heat " the ill-fated cultural talk show which was airing on both KPLU and KUOW has been dropped by both. KPLU discontinued the show a few months ago. KUOW followed suit this month. Gary Lockwood was chosen "Seattle's Best DJ" by readers of the Weekly. Gary finished third in the voting the previous year.

Letters From Readers

Dear Editor,

Last summer you reported KLAY was changing frequencies to 1180-AM. I have tried to tune the station in repeatedly but without success. I was able to receive their signal wihout any problems prior to the change and one would think at the new lower frequency it would be even easier to pick up. Has their transmitter location changed? I really miss Rush Limbaugh and as far as I know KLAY is the only station that carries him, any help you can offer would be appreciated.

Thank You,
J. Miller
Federal Way, WA

Dear Reader,

Your problem is not caused by a change in transmitter location or by problems with your receiver. The fact is KLAY still has not returned to the air! We have spoken to the station every month prior to publication since June and have been assured that the station would be returning to the air that month. Our last conversation took place with KLAY owner, Clay Hunntington, on Nov. 26th at which time he claimed the station would be resuming broadcasting on the 1st of December. We will soon see if this estimate is any more accurate than past predictions. By the way, they will be running Rush Limbaugh's conservative talk show when they resume broadcasting.

Holiday Specials

Charlie Claus
KUBE's Charlie Brown will be making underpriveledged and hospitilized children's Christmas a little brighter by granting their wishes every morning from December 10th--December 25th KUBE 93.3 FM

A Voice Still Heard
A Hanukkah special which features music by Jewish composers of the 12th through the 16th centuries, performed by the New Orleans based Musica da Camera ensemble. Tuesday, December 11th, 9:00pm, KUOW 94.9

Hanukkah With The Kleveland Klezmorim
The original Klezmorim were wandering musicians who lived and travelled throughout Europe as they performed for local celebrations. Klezmer music, which dates back to the mid 1600's, incorporates the musical sounds of neighboring cultures such as folk songs from Greece, Turkey, Russia and Rumania. This program draws upon the tradition of Klezmer in celebrating the festive holiday of Hanukkah. The Kleveland Klezmorim has a more contemporary approach to the music using sources as diverse as jazz, swing, classical, pop, Latin and Calypso music. Sunday, December 16th, 9:00pm KUOW 94.9

Western Wind: A Celebration of Light
The history and legend of contemporary religious observations are woven together with music in this celebration of the renaissance and Hanukkah. The acclaimed Western Wind Vocal Ensemble's unique repertoire includes music and songs representative of the spirituality and significance of the winter solstice, renaissance and Hanukkah. This program will offer commentary as well as traditional Yiddish tunes and early American hymns recorded in concert and in the studio. Wednesday, December 19th, 9:00pm KUOW 94.9

Winter Solstice Whole Earth Paul Winter Special
For the first time in an 11 year tradition, Paul Winter's acclaimed evening Winter Solstice Whole Earth Christmas Celebration will coincide with the actual moment when the sun passes the solstice and winter begins in the Northern Hemisphere. The live performance will be broadcast direct from New York City's Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the world's largest Gothic cathedral. Musicians centered in the nave of the cathedral and scattered throughout the immense church interior will perform in seamless sound, offering in Winter's words, music "dedicated to the spirit of giving and forgiving." The celebration will include music from Winter's new work "The Tree; A Solstice Fable" and music from his latest album, "Earth; Voices of a Planet." Among Winter's guests will be Celtic singer Noirin Ni Rain. Paul Winter is regarded as one of today's most innovative contemporary musicians and composers and his consort is one of the country's most renowned acoustic ensembles. Friday, December 21st, 8:00pm KUOW 94.9

Tree Trimmer Special
Special Christmas broadcast on Christian KGNW 820, Friday, December 21st, 8:00 – 9:00pm

A Cajun Christmas
This Christmas special includes stories, reminiscences and music from the Louisiana Bayou. The special is hosted by singer-songwriter Monty Brown with guests Michael Doucet of "Beausoleil" and Cajun dance band "Paul Daigle & Cajun Gold." Saturday, December 22nd, 2:00pm KUOW 94.9

Christmas 1990
From December 22nd – 25th KARR 1460 will be interrupting their regular programming with special music, dramas and readings devoted especially to the Christmas season. On Christmas night, they end the special programming with Handel's Messiah.

'Tis the Season
"Soundprint" takes a look at celebrations of the Winter Solstice and the anxiety that goes along with living up to the many promises of so many festive bright lights. The Celt's pagan ritual heralded the seasonal turning point and the return of light, but today the festival is sacred for some and a ritual of family and friends for others. Sunday, December 23rd, (10:00am KPLU 88.5) (8:30pm KUOW 94.9)

Advent Carol Service
Start off the Advent season with carols and hymns ranging from the medieval to the contemporary, performed by the Choir of St. John's and broadcast from St. John's College, Cambridge, England. Sunday, December 23rd, 9:00pm KUOW 94.9

KBSG's Solid Christmas
Solid Christmas hits from 7:00pm Christmas Eve 'till 7:00pm Christmas Day on KBSG 1210 AM and 97.3 FM

KLSY's Christmas Memories
The greatest christmas songs of all time featuring artists such as Bing Crosby, The Boston Pops, The Beach Boys, Johnny Mathis and the Carpenters. Also comedy features and special reports from the North Pole updating Santa's progress. Christmas Eve – Noon, Christmas Day. KLSY 1540 AM, 92.5 FM

Outdoor FM Antenna Systems -The Ultimate Solution

Your favorite FM station is playing a quiet passage from a song, when a car drives by and suddenly your home receiver is awash with static, so you hook up your cable TV's co-ax and you can't find your favorite station. [Editor's Note: Check page 4 for cable conversions]. KING is where KSEA should be, KPLU is on the opposite end of the dial and there is heavy metal where there should be easy listening! The ultimate solution? An outdoor antenna can solve these problems plus open up a new world of listening on the FM band. In this article we will look at the whats, wheres and whys of outdoor FM antennas.

The name of the game with any antenna is "gain" which is the method used to comparatively measure the reception capabilities of one antenna system over another. The more gain - the better the reception. In the case of weaker local stations, such as lower powered college stations, this can mean the difference between your receiver giving you a useable stereo signal or a weaker, mono, static ridden signal. Outdoor antennas generally perform better with relatively high gain, although there are budget antennas that will improve your reception but don't compare with the gain ratings and performance of the top of the line models. It is my feeling that if you are going to choose to install an outdoor antenna, for the relatively small expense, it is worth getting the highest gain possible. the work involved to install is the same, regardless of the gain or size of the antenna! More on this later.

As explained before, the chief advantage of outdoor FM antennas is the clear reception of local, but weaker stations, or those that due to terrain, cause "multi-pathing"; that is, the reception of the signal from more than one direction due to refractive bounce which results in static. Cable companies in the Seattle-Tacoma-Everett area offer reception of the local high power stations (albeit scattered in a disorderly fashion across the dial) however none of the lower powered campus stations are carried. Due to their eclectic programming, these stations offer Radio Guide readers some unusual and quality choices as an alternative. Of these, KNHC 89.5 (dance, rock and contemporary), KCMU 90.3(alternative rock), KTPS 91.7 and KVTI 90.9 (both out of Tacoma) are the easiest to receive although there are many areas where reception of these stations causes problems. Reception of KGRG 89.9 (Today's Rock), KASB 89.3 (Bellevue School Dist.), KBCS 91.3 (Folk, Jazz, Blues and specialties) KGHP 89.9 (Gig Harbor) and the new KSER 90.7 (Everett, KRAB was it's predecessor) definitely pose reception problems for the FM gourmet. Depending, of course, on how close to these stations towers you are located.

A rotatable antenna on a 10 foot mast should bring all of these stations in with relative clarity from most locations in the metro area. Listeners in the Tacoma / Pierce County areas will find Everett's KSER and Bellevue's KASB and KBCS useable. Conversely Snohomish Co. listeners will discover KVTI and possibly even KGRG as well as the Eastside stations. Beyond local stations however, the outdoor rotatable antenna is quiet capable of providing a new world of listening from more distant locales. and this can really offer some interesting possibilities for the FM audiophile.

While some listeners with outdoor antennas will be satisfied with the rich variety of programming from metropolitan Seattle stations, others may be keen to seek out stations from more distant cities to satisfy their needs. A good outdoor antenna should be capable of receiving most normal powered stations within a 75 to 200 mile radius, but I can't emphasize varying terrain considerations enough. Tall buildings, a steep hill, or other significant obstacles will determine whether your antenna receives better from some directions than others. With a rotator (sometimes called a rot) to point your antenna south you

Especially prepared from the version Charles Dickens used for public readings of his work, this broadcast edition features Winters as narrator and as the voice of all the male roles. Winters is joined by actress Mimi Kennedy (currently appearing in the film "Pump Up The Volume", a worthy radio oriented film) as the voice of all the female characters. KPLU, 88.5 will broadcast Jonathan Winters' "A Christmas Carol", Monday evening, 8:00pm, Dec. 24th.

KOMO's Christmas Concert

Christmas Eve, 8:00pm – 9:30pm and rebroadcast Christmas Day 8:00am –9:30am KOMO 1000

Special Christmas Programming

9:00pm, Christmas Eve till Midnight, Christmas Day, KGNW 820

A Christmas Carol

Yet another version of Dicken's classic tale. This one features Lionel Barrymore as the voice of Scrooge. Christmas Day, 9:30am – 10:30am KOMO 1000

"A Jazz Piano Christmas" Special

This Special will feature pianists Hank Jones, George Shearing, Marcus Roberts, Marion McPartland and many others in an hour long Christmas show which KPLU, 88.5 will air on Christmas Eve at 9:00pm and will be repeated Christmas Day at 12:00 Noon

"A Jazz Night Christmas" Special

Following the broadcast of "A Jazz Piano Christmas", KPLU, 88.5 will air "A Jazz Night Christmas" featuring arranger / composer / multi-instrumentalist Gus Mancuso, trombonist Carl Fontana and others as recorded last December at the Four Queens Hotel in Las Vegas. The hour long Christmas special will air Christmas Eve at 10:00pm and repeat Christmas Day at 1:00pm

Mozart's Messiah

Enjoy this year's three hour broadcast of Handel's Messiah, featuring the version orchestrated by Motzart to a commission by Baron Gottfried van Sweiton. Boston's Handel and Haydn Society perform the work on period instruments. Christmas Night, 7:00pm, KUOW 94.9

Radio Flashback

JULY, 1965

- KOL 1300 AM was still battling the mighty KJR for the hearts of NW teeny-boppers. Later that decade, KOL shifted to a slightly more alternative format.
- This chart displays the strengths of Top 40; Country/Western mixed with Soul, Easy Pop and Brit Invasion. Included are local groups, The Sonics and Don & The Goodtimes.
- Air-personality, Danny Holiday was a popular fixture at KOL for years. In recent years, he has held down stints at KQUL and KVI.

Notes by Peter Blecha
Program from NW Music Archives

THIS IS ONLY A TEST...

If you are a regular reader of The Radio Guide, chances are you spend some time wandering up and down the dial to find out what's available on the airwaves. Well, fellow radio junkies, here's your chance to see just how familiar you are with what music Seattle's stations are offering.

Below are several groups of ten songs heard on specific stations. Your mission, (should you decide to accept it), is to identify the stations based on their music mix. The purpose of this exercise is to not only test your knowledge, but also to illustrate how similar certain stations can be on a purely musical level (although if you look closely you will find some nuances that distinguish stations from each other).

Before you start, here are a few hints:

1) All stations are on FM
2) All are commercial, not public
3) All are based in the Seattle/Tacoma metro area

Good Luck!

#1
Robert Palmer-Simply Irresistable
Jimi Hendrix-Fire
The Alarm-The Road

STATION #9 _____

There, now that wasn't so hard, was it? If you would like the answers, turn the page over. No peeking now!

1. KXRX 96.5. A tough call (might easily have been KISW), but the Alarm and REM should have tipped you off.
2. KMGI 107.7. You probably won't hear Cheap Trick on any other Adult Contemporary stations.
3. KPLZ 101.5. Another tough call (might easily have been KUBE), but they are slightly closer to the cutting edge of hit radio (more rap, etc.)
4. KZOK 102.5. Should've been easy...newest song was recorded in 1977
5. KLSY 92.5. Another toughie...K-Lite and Mix 101 are quite similar.
6. KKNW 106.9. If you've listened to them, you shouldn't have had any problem with this one.
7. KISW 99.9 Appear to be leaning more in a classic rock direction recently although both KISW and KXRX pull out the harder stuff at night (music, that is).
8. KBSG 97.3. Would have been tougher if you hadn't read the FM only hint.
9. KUBE 93.3. They also rock a little harder at night.

SCORE # of correct answers:
9 (perfect) = Quit listening to the radio and get a life, will ya?
6-8 = Hey, we're impressed.
3-5 = Better keep reading the Radio Guide.
0-2 = You're either new in town or so terminally hip that you never listen to commercial radio.

drama

Mon-Fri:

Radio Reader Nightly readings from a current novel in 15 - 60 half hour segments read by Dick Estell. Ride With Me, Mariah Montana by Ivan Doig. An authentic recapturingof Montana' centenial summer. 10-10:30pm KUOW 94.9

should be able to find a few of the public, non commercial stations from the Portland area. Look for the Christian KBVM at 88.3 or Blues and Black music form KBOO at 90.7. For a taste of a small town country station try KMNT 102.9 Centralia. Those of you lamenting the demise of KEZX's previous eclectic format may find Portland's KINK 101.9 to their liking.

To the north, there is an equal abundance of programming. You should have no trouble picking up Canada's excellent CBC network with it's emphasis on fine arts and classical music on 92.1 and/or 105.7. Bellingham's KISM 92.9 (Top 40) and KAFE 104.3 (soft rock) are easy catches but look for lower powered KUGS 89.3 (alternative, blues, jazz & reggae) from Western. Also by the time you read this KZAZ 91.7 should be on the air with NPR programming and classical music from Bellingham. High powered Vancouver stations such as CFMI 101.1 (rock), CJJR 93.7 (country), CKKS 96.9 (soft rock) and CHQM 103.5 (easy listening) should all be useable to listeners in King and Snohomish Counties. To the west, all the Kitsap stations listed in the Guide, as well as Aberdeen's KDUX 104.7 (Rock) and KGHO are the rewards.

This month we have covered the reasons and probable results of installing an outdoor antenna system. Next month we will discuss mounting methods and hardware for an outdoor system.

INSIDE the GUIDE

Hello Readers,

It was a quick war, wasn't it? Let's hope it's really over. This marks the one year anniversery of the Radio Guide. We've seen a lot of changes to the Seattle radio scene in this past year - Air personalities have come and gone, formats have come and gone and even stations have come and gone. I've certainly learned a lot about radio and publishing since we began (I can almost type now!) and The Guide will continue to provide you with the most up to date radio information possible. Speaking of being up to date, a new station has signed on in Snohomish County. KSER began broadcasting last week and while we were able to get their programming worked into our grids we have yet to fully integrate their schedule into our special programming or daily highlights section but we will by next month. Please see page 5 for more information on KSER.

Inside you will also find a story about one of the areas more established stations KZOK FM contributing editor E Richardson traces the station from their "underground rock" days to their "classic rock" format of today. A new Radio Guide crossword puzzel is on page 14 and our Radio Flashback looks at November, 1961 on page 25. Best bets are on pages 12 and 13.

Good Listening

Station News

KPLU has won the Gavin Report's "Jazz Station of the Year" award for 1991. This is the first time a non-commercial station has won the award though KPLU has been among the five finalists nationwide for three consecutive years. Best of the year awards are given in seven categories by the Gavin Report. More than 2,300 subscribers representing the music and radio industry vote on the awards.

KPLU has also announced the addition of Erin Hennessey to their award winning news staff. Hennessey will host and assist in the production of KPLU's presentation of National Public Radio's afternoon news program "All Things Considered" Erin brings a wealth of freelance writing experience including work for The Seattle Times and The Weekly. She also has experience in overseas print media and public radio experience.

Jeff French is the new Program Director at KITZ in Silverdale. The Kitsap County station has undergone a few schedule changes to their Adult Contemporary programming in the last few months. KRKO in Everett has begun a "Home Shopping Network" on the radio. Entitled "Saturday Auction", it will air Saturdays from 8-10 A.M. Listeners will bid on items like dinners, limo rides , tickets and some bigger items too.

The Radio Guide is published monthly. Subscriptions are available by writing The Radio Guide 811 NE 45th, Seattle, WA 98105. Subscription costs (1st Class Mail) are $10.00 per year. If you would like to make the Radio Guide available at your public place of business (no charge) please write or call us at 545-8136. Advertising deadline is the 23rd. Advertising information may be obtained by calling 545-8136

Dear Editor,

Thank you for the wonderful service you have been providing. I only recently discovered your magazine and I find it invaluable. I have one question that I hope you can help me with. Where can I find children's programs on the radio? I have searched through your guide and I can't seem to find any reference to children's shows anywhere. Are there any, and if not ,why not ?

Janice R.
(Mother of Four)
Mountlake Terrace

Dear Janice,

You are in luck! While there has been a distinct lack of children's programming in this area the situation has just changed. KSER (90.7 FM) just signed on the air a couple of weeks ago and you should be able to pick them up easily from Montlake Terrace. The Snohomish County station offers "Kids Clubhouse" every weekday after school from 4-4:30 PM. A two hour version of the program is also offered from 7 AM till 9 AM Sunday mornings. To the best of my knowledge, this is the only children's programming that has ever been offered over the radio.

KSER: Radio for the Adventurous Listener

by Bruce Buckner

"Through the day, one voice replaces another at the helm of this ship of sound exploring the boundaries of the known world." This is how KSER's first newsletter, The Adventurous Listener begins and this is how KSER, the brand new Snohomish County FM station, sees their mission; A ship of sound exploring boundaries, boundaries of all kinds. As Station Manager Nancy Keith puts it " We want to push the envelope of what's on the radio. Hopefully we can provide some alternatives for the listener. Our emphasis is on quality and diversity rather than the widest market appeal" The station presents everything from medieval renaissance music to John Persacs' "Youth Beat", from bluegrass to Trinidadian soca music. If this sounds a little bit like KRAB, Seattle's first non-commercial station there is a good reason.

KRAB was, and KSER is, run by the Jack Straw Foundation, a non profit foundation that started non-commercial radio in Seattle more than 28 years ago. Known for their broad and often obscure programming, KRAB was a fixture in the area throughout the turbulent "fringie" days of the late 60's. Like many community radio stations of those times, the station struggled financially and eventually folded in the early eighties. KRAB was sold in 1984. for around $4.5 million dollars (The endowment now has $3.5 million) It was located at 107.7 on the dial which is now KMGI. Many members of the community were quite upset to see a non-profit foundation sell their non commercial radio frequency to a commercial station. A sometimes bitter dispute arouse, politics were heavy and there was lots of bickering. The foundation had planned to begin broadcasting again by sharing Nathen Hale's KNHC frequency. Politics interfered and the School Board reneged on their promise to help the station.

All parties are now pleased to see eclectic "KRAB-like programming return to the air on 90.7 FM but it wasn't an easy process.

The foundation had been trying to get a license since 1984 and were finally granted one in 1987 but that license was granted for a different tower location which unfortunately created signal interference with KVTI (Tacoma Vocational Institute's non commercial station). In 1989 they found their present location at 148th SW on Hwy 99, known as Gunnysack Hill it is north of Lynnwood above Mukilteo. The studio and transmitter are both found there. It still took almost two years before they were granted final approval by the FCC late last summer and in mid February of this year, nearly eight years after the demise of KRAB, KSER began broadcasting.

KSER, like many other public radio stations, will be listener supported,and they will depend on a volunteer airstaff of nearly 80 people. For many this is their first experience in broadcasting but Station Manager Nancy Keith, a former broadcasting teacher at Western Washington University, has done a fine job eliminating the novice mistakes often associated with volunteer radio hosts. "One thing we are not stressing is the 'VOICE'. We don't want announcers. We want people. We are trying to demystify radio." said Public Affairs Director Ed Bremmer. With a stated goal of introducing listeners to music and ideas they haven't heard before, the station wants volunteers who are passionately interested in the music or topics they are presenting especially if it involves something not currently aired. "We're not interested in playing what easily can be heard elsewhere," said Keith, "There is so much wonderful music in the world you rarely get to hear"

THE SUNLIT ROOM takes up the bulk of their daytime programming. (10:30 am. to 4:00 pm.) It is an ambitious concept. You may hear a Schubert piano Impromptu followed by a wailing jazz saxophone which may segue into a field chant or maybe even some delta blues. The unifying factor is that all the music is acoustic, intimately performed by a small group or solo performer. Stu Witmer, KSER's Music Director, says "It's the proverbial eclectic mix. It's a little bit of everything, not because we don't know what we want to do but because we know exactly what we want to do!" "We've got some great people doing this, they're all thoroughly knowledgeable in at least two forms of the music we play and as they continue doing this they're getting better and better at blending all the genres into the show." Four different volunteers host the show, each assigned one particular day of the week. While each volunteer has his or her own particular musical specialty the show is getting it's feet and has developed a smooth identity despite the variety of hosts. According to Witmer "This is very difficult. The host must know folk, classical, jazz, world

...music, blues and even pop. I didn't know if we would be able to find one person able to do that but, believe it or not, I found four! I'm sure I'll find a fifth one too. If anyone out there feels they can handle something that complex for that length of an airshift one day a week, they should call me."

KSER is affiliated with APR (American Public Radio) rather than NPR ("We'd be third in line for NPR programming in this area though we may pick up an occasional NPR program that KUOW or KPLU pass on") APR provides CBC, BBC and Radio Australia news to the station. "This station has a more in-depth approach to news and public affairs" said Witmer. Among the news and public affairs programs is the half hour BBC report every day at 5 pm., Canadian Broadcast Co.'s "As It Happens" weekdays at 6:60 pm., and over six hours per week of programming devoted to local news and issues. They hope to use the telephone and other methods to air local traffic reports. Says Witmer, "If you're stuck on the Hewitt Ave. trestle, you don't want to hear about the Renton S curves." In addition The station presents Alan Watts' series on Zen Buddhism every Sunday at noon and minority reports Saturdays at 4 pm.

KSER is the only station in the area to offer Children's Programming. "Kid's Clubhouse" airs everyday after school at 4pm. as well as Sunday mornings from 7-9 am. Holly Cummings is the coordinator of children's programming. "What I'd love to do is bring back for the children of today the fun we had with radio". She lamented the lack of imagination required by todays entertainment for kids. Cummings, a professional storyteller and former teacher says, "I'd like to put an emphasis on the environment and ecology."

Drama, storytelling and a wide variety of unusual entertainment is available on KSER. The Firesign Theater's John Ossman presents Ossman's Audiola on Saturdays from 7-9 pm. The program is a unique blend of music, comedy and drama. Novels are read every weekday at 9 am and old time radio theater like "The Shadow" is on Sunday evenings at 7.

Receiving the fledgling stations signal can be a problem for those of you living in Seattle or points south. In my car I found I could pick up KSER on I-5 around Northgate with the DX (or distant) button pushed in and by the time I hit the city limits the DX button was no longer required. Strangely I found i could pick the station up at some locations in the city (parts of West Seattle, Capitol Hill and even Bellevue) while a few blocks away the frequency was a wash of static. Those of you that are having trouble receiving the station at home may want to invest in a set of rabbit ears or some other antenna.

KSER is breaking the boundaries of conventional radio programming. Those adventurous listeners among you may want to book passage on this "ship of sound."

KZOK FM; Journey Through The Past

by Eric Richardson

Remember when rock and roll was considered dangerous music? Although Tipper Gore and others might argue that it still is, it's amazing to think that many staple artists of today's rock radio (e.g. Led Zeppelin, the Who, etc.) received little airplay when their music was released in the late sixties and early seventies-save for the newly emerging "progressive rock" FM stations characterized by freeform programming, laid back announcers and advertisements for headshops. One station of this breed born in the early seventies was KZOK-FM.

KZOK's ascendency in the Seattle radio market paralleled rival KISW's until about 1977, when KZOK began to dominate the rock wars. Their eye-catching red and white striped "OK" hand sign was seen everywhere (remember those VW beetleboards?) and all was well until KISW's golden age began in 1979. The battle was intense until about 1984 when KZOK began to experiment with variations on rock radio: "Commercial Free Rock" (which offended advertisers) and "Quality Rock" (a billboard placed near KISW's studio read "Not too hard, not too soft." Mysteriously appearing below were the scrawled words "Not too good").

In 1987, KZOK hit on a new variation, "Classic Rock" wherein the playlist was drawn mainly from music recorded between 1964 (the British invasion) through the late seventies brand of corporate rock (Boston, Foreigner, etc.). The station actually broadcast an on air apology to listeners for their previous sins and stated their commitment to relying on rock's glorious past for their programming. The concept was almost an instant ratings success, only to be followed by a long downward slide which may have been the result of the protracted sale process when the station was sold in early 1989 from SRO to Adams Communications.

In late 1989, however, KZOK-FM began to rise again from the ashes and set off on a year long climb that stunned many in the media community. A large appetite obviously existed for rock music that the thirty-something generation was weaned upon. The station even revived the "OK" hand sign for their logo, as if to give their listeners a sense of recapturing their youth. The music of The Doors, Deep Purple, Pink Floyd and the Rolling Stones that was once was considered dangerous was now safe and comfortable.

The station's ratings peaked this past summer of 1990, when their estimated audience 25-54 year olds was second only to KIRO's. Rivals KISW and KXRX took notice and began playing significantly more "classic rock" in an effort to keep from losing their older (25+) listeners to this newly formidable competitor. For the first time in twelve years, KZOK was king of the rock 'n' roll hill in Seattle and they have remained strong although the most recent ratings showed they had dipped a bit.

So, how does a rock station sell themselves so successfully to adults? [Besides advertising in the Radio Guide? EDITOR] According to Promotion Director Scott Paine, "We try to be aware in everthing we do that we service an adult audience, and as a result we're very selective about what events we become involved in. For example, many of our listeners now have children, so our summer beach party at Alki allowed the whole family to participate."

Paine says the station also shies away from preview screenings of excessively violent films, instead preferring to jump on opportunities like screening the new film biography of Jim Morrison. "Our main criteria," says Paine, "Is that our promotions have to make sense for our audience."

One problem the early version of KZOK's classic rock format encountered was in determining just what was to be considered "classic". The original definition included Motown hits and obscure cuts from marginally familiar artists, both of which have since been removed. "When listeners tune to our station now, they usually know all the words to the songs." says Paine. Occasionally KZOK will play more recent releases but only if they are familiar cuts from "Classic Rock" artists such as Tom Petty or the Rolling Stones. As Paine states, "We're not in the business of breaking new music."

> "A billboard read, 'Not too hard, not too soft.' Mysteriously appearing below were the scrawled words 'Not too good'"

In retrospect, it was inevitable that baby boomers would cling to the music of their youth just as other generations have before them. It's even somewhat amusing to hear former rock 'n' roll animals, when confronted with today's contemporary music, echo the statements their parents made twenty tears ago; "How can kids listen to this stuff? This isn't music, it just sounds like noise!" However, the success of KZOK's Classic Rock format proves that a great many people facing middle age, kids and mortgages still have the spirit of rock 'n' roll burning inside them. As Neil Young sang "Rock and roll will never die." The folks at KZOK are certainly hoping he was right.

Mon-Fri:

Radio Reader Nightly readings from a current novel in 15 - 60 half hour segments read by Dick Estell. Reasonable Doubt by Philip Freidman runs through the 12th. It's the story of an attorney hired to defend his daughter in law, who is accused of murdering his son. 3/13-Sunday Nights at Seven begins. This is the story of Jack Benny told in his own words and in the reminisences of his daughter Joan. 10-10:30pm KUOW 94.9

NPR Playhouse Nightly half hour serial adaptations of old favorites and experimental contemporary radio in this general format:

MONDAY; McTeague Featuring the voices of Stacy Keach and Michael York, This radio drama is a darkly passionate turn of the century novel about the downfall of a simple man who desires a simple life. A slow witted dentist, McTeague rapidly goes into a primitave state when his life collapses around him.

TUESDAY; This month features a "Tribute to Joseph Conrad". A 7 episode play entitled The Heart of Darkness is presented through March. It is the psychological odessey of a young man's two month journey into the African jungle.

WEDNESDAY; The Radio Stage This 11 part series features programs of original drama and state of the art sound effects created especially for radio. Each week a different drama is written by renowned playwrights and performed by New York based repertory companies.

THURSDAY; Raffles. AJ Raffles, an English gentleman, is also known as the most ingenious burglar ever to baffle Scotland Yard. He teams up with his friend Bunny Manders and the two cheat, steal and charm their way across England.

FRIDAY; The Bob and Ray Show begins 9/14 and continues all month. Humorists Bob Elliot and the late Ray Goulding make a comeback in these hilarious programs recorded live between 1982 and 1986. All 10:30-11pm KUOW 94.9

INSIDE the GUIDE

Hello Readers,

Summer is officially over now and this marks the beginning of a new fall radio season. Although syndicated programming has all but dissapeared from commercial radio, (Whatever happened to KIRO's Mystery Theater?), the public stations offer a wealth of programming that, after a summer of re-runs, is now beginning a new season. A brief rundown of some of those new shows can be found on pages 11, 12 and 13.

Rumors abound about changes that are supposed to be happening at KBRD and KEZX. Supposedly, KBRD is leaving the beautiful music format (this has been vehemently denied by KBRD PD, Bill Conway) and KEZX is jumping into it - to the detriment of the Adult Alternative crowd. Please see page 24 for more details

With school starting up again, we thought we'd take a look at the various broadcasting schools in the area. Our contributing editor, Eric Richardson investigated the options available in radio education. The article is on page 5.

We would like to thank everyone who filled out and mailed August's survey. We still have some of the Station Stickers left. The stickers depict a map of the radio dial with all the stations, their frequencies and their formats placed at the appropriate points on the dial. If you would like a sticker please send us a stamped self-adressed envelope and we will be happy to send you one.

Good Listening,
BB

Station News

KJUN (1450 AM) in Tacoma is changing hands and formats. Pending a final OK from the FCC, Ray Court will be selling the station to Barbara Geesman. The word is, she plans to change the format from country-western to hard rock. A change in call letters is planned as well. Tentative date for the changeover is October 18th.

KJR will be devoting it's airwaves to "Hands Across Seattle", an auction to help raise money for the homeless of Seattle and King County. The Auction will be held Saturday, October 6th, from 9am to 5pm. The auction, was originally launched years ago nationally as "Hands Across America". With the influx of homelessness in our own community, four years ago, KJR put together "Hands Across Seattle". KJR has raised over $100,000 to aide in the elimination of homelessness.

KRKO (Everett) will be taking their Singles Line on the road. KRKO will be broadcasting the program live every Thursday night, from the Everett Keg on Casino Road. Show times are 8pm to 11pm and the public is welcome to attend.

KMGI (107.7 FM), following one of the biggest radio promotions this area has seen, has dropped their "i-107.7" identitification and is once again known as "Magic 107". Russel Lee, their promotion director is now at KVI. Mike Webb has left KIXI for KVI as well.

Letters From Readers

Dear Sirs,

I would like to commend you on a fine magazine. You have really filled a need in this town. Radio is a medium that the daily papers have totally ignored and you are doing an admiral job, but, I feel compelled to point out an error in your September Issue (#10). In your Sunday FM Grid (Pg 23) and in the Weekend Highlights you have Musical Starstreams listed on KKNW. The station is no longer airing that program.

Sincerely,
Frank Underwood

Dear Frank,

Thank You very much for pointing out our oversight. We truely appreciate the fact that you took the time to point it out to us. As we can't listen to all the stations, all the time we are dependent on the stations and their listeners for our information, Sometimes the stations neglect to inform us of programming changes (especially when they are undergoing a management change) and sometimes we just forget to make a change. In any case we need you, our readers to let us know when we goof up.

The Radio Guide is published monthly. Subscriptions are available by writing The Radio Guide 811 NE 45th, Seattle, WA 98105. Subscription costs (1st Class Mail) are $10.00 per year. If you would like to make the Radio Guide available at your public place of business (no charge) please write or call us at 545-8136. Advertising deadline is the 23. Most radio listeners have probably at one time or another heard an announcer talk on the air and thought to themselves, "Gee, I could do that!" Judging by the fierce competition for on-air positions, many decide to actually make a run at becoming announcers, often with dreams of fame, short hours, big money, free records and concert tickets. However, the saying "Many are called, but few are chosen" definitely applies to this career path, and even those who are chosen are in for a long and arduous journey.

A career in radio announcing usually begins with some kind of educational program. These programs are available from a variety of sources, but fall into two main categories: those available from public academic programs (e.g. college radio), and programs from specialized schools that provide concentrated training. The Seattle area has multiple options for both kinds of programs.

One college that has spawned the careers of several Seattle radio announcers is that of Bellevue Community College and it's accompanying radio station KBCS 91.3 FM. Program Director Leslie Larkin estimates that the majority of her students are driven to have a career in radio, while others find the classes an interesting complement to their studies.

Larkin says she tries to be brutally frank in the first few sessions about the realities of working in radio. "I tell them about my first job in radio, where I made $2.30 an hour and my job description included cleaning the toilets and emptying the trash...and that I was grateful to have it. That usually inspires some to drop out of the class." BCC's curriculum in radio includes an overview of all facets of the industry, followed by more specialized training in announcing, production, news, public affairs and journalism. Students must compete for on-air positions at KBCS in order to get their all important first airshift, from which they can compile an aircheck tape to send to prospective employers.

In the realm of more specialized schools, the one most familiar to longtime Seattle residents is now in limbo. The Ron Bailie School of Broadcasting was founded by ex-KOL disc jockey, Ron Bailie. The school went on to open branches all across the country but recently lost their accreditation for financial aid. A telephone machine now answers the phone and no one answered any of the messages we left on the machine.

One program that is still thriving is that of National Career School (formerly National Broadcasting School). Their radio training is a six month program which covers all aspects of the business, although almost all of the students are there as aspiring deejays. Another program, the Connecticut School of Broadcasting is a national training program with over ten branches across the country. They recently opened a campus in Bellevue.

The specialized schools differ from BCC's in duration (CSB is a four month program, NCS is six months and BCC is

OCTOBER'S NEW RADIO SEASON BEGINS

1. Garrison Keillor's American Radio Company starts a second season of live radio shows this month. Keillor's first season was a national success. "The first season made some noble mistakes, hit some high notes and finished strong," says Keillor, "and we're ready to go again-Rob Fisher and his Coffee Club Orchestra, Ivy Austin, Bob Elliot, Tom Keith, The Broadway Local and me, of course, with more stories and lectures on Lake Wobegon and the slow life of the big city. We're all ready to go."

Despite his success with the broadcast show A Prairie Home Companion and his best selling books, Keillor is still suprised that "people are prepared to listen to a long story about Lake Wobegon. It's a long lovely moment, seeing that quiet crowd, especially to think that people remember stories they've heard on the radio, remember them for years, remember them in detail... this never ceases to amaze me."

American Radio Company's second season will be broadcast from a new location, the Lamb's Theater in Manhattan. "Our move to the Lamb's is meant to make the show sound warmer and more intimate, and the audience more present" says Keillor. The theater is on the third floor of a historic building where Fred Astair once lived and where Enrico Caruso, Irving Berlin and George Gershwin entertained their colleagues.

The new season will include eight shows from the road, including a possible show from Seattle in February. "I plan to do one even more intimate show from Mark Twain's house in Hartford," says Garrison, "with a few musicians, a few of the great mans books and an audience of about fifty sitting in the writer's dining room"

Garrison admits "What keeps me trying is the fact that radio is such a powerful medium This magnificent invention, full of record emporiums and newsstands, ought to have a few theaters too, and that's what we're operating here, the corner Bijou of publis radio." The program may be heard Saturdays, 5pm on KUOW 94.9

WEDNESDAY HIGHLIGHTS

BEST BETS
FOR OCTOBER'S NEW SEASON

(continined from pg 12)

2. The Miles Davis Project For more than 40 years, Miles Davis, the brilliant, enigmatic jazz trumpeter, has been in the forefront of American jazz. Notorious for not giving interviews, Davis now speaks out candidly about his life and work in this special seven segment documentary which begins Oct. 12th. The show starts by tracing Davis's roots as a child in East St. Louis and concludes with his work in the present. Through Davis and other musical giants of our era, the show will be able to effectively cover much of the development of modern music. Additionally, the project will feature the first live Miles Davis recordings in more than seven years. The program airs every Friday through November 16th at 2 PM on KBCS 91.3

3. Bluesstage National Public Radio presents a brand new second season of Bluesstage the first and only national weekly radio series dedicated to the blues. Each hour long, digitally recorded, program presents a mix of rhthym and blues artists performing at a variety of locales around the country. The program will conclude their first season on October 6th with a retrospective "best of" featuring the best live performances of the last season. The second season makes it's debut on October 16th with a

commentary by the editor

The air has been buzzing in broadcasting circles recently about an upcoming format change at both KEZX-FM and KBRD. According to a petition being circulated at local record stores, KEZX is planning to switch their format to "Beautiful Music" on October 15th. The petition is urging people to support the station's current "Northwest Progressive" format. We talked to the station's Program Director, Peyton Mays, who said "There's a lot of loose talk out on the streets, but nothing we can comment about here. We're delighted to listen to all the rumors, but..." When pressed with the fact that the KEZX's sales staff has been informing their clients of an impending change-over he went on to say "Well, we're not saying that there is not going to be a change, we're just not in a position to be discussing the nature of the change at this point."

According to the rumors, KEZX is waiting for confirmation from KBRD that they are, indeed, leaving their "Beautiful Music" format. The fact that Peg Dempsey was recently hired as Station Manager, (leaving a similar post at KBRD to take the job), seems to confirm the supposed format change although Bill Conway, KBRD's Program Director denies it. "We are not planning any changes nor are we contemplating any changes. Of course," he added, "I wouldn't tell you, even if we were".

We at the Radio Guide are horrified at the planned switch. Lara Lavi stated in an interview in last month's Guide "Stations like KNUA and, particularly, KEZX are so precious, they are soooo precious and few, because most stations are programmed nationally by corporations who just use charts and have no clue about music, their sole interest is trying to sell whatever it is the advertiser is trying to sell." It seems strangely prophetic that only a month later KNUA is now KKNW and KEZX is going to Beautiful Music.

Only on KEZX can artists like John Hiat, Tom Waites, Ellen McElwaine, the Hot House Flowers, Bruce Cocburn or Nancy Griffith be heard along with performers like Little Feat, Tony Childs, Bonnie Rait, Peter Tosh, Dr. John and Ry Cooder. These are not obscure artists, but best selling performers. One local major-label rep., when hearing of the proposed change, said "At least three out of our ten best selling albums only get airplay on KEZX-FM. This is really going to hurt us." Ed Beeson, owner of the Backstage, echoes that statement. He says "I probably do 40 shows a year usingKEZX as my primary promotional vehicle and there really isn't any alternative for

- KYAC "The Soul of The Northwest" was Seattle's first black-oriented radio station since KZAM's demise in the early '60's.
- KYAC featured on-air personalities including: Robert L. Scott, Spencer Haywood, and Pat Wright. For quite a while the evening shift was held by Jimi Pipkin formerly a member of Seattle's 50's doo wop group, the Gallahads.
- KYAC simulcast on AM and FM. Their 96.5 wavelength is now KXRX. The 1460 AM frequency by '76 had switched to KILO's 70's Metal format which gave way to KGAA's country and is currently broadcasting Christian programming as KARR.

BACK TO (RADIO) SCHOOL

nine months) and cost (NCS's program costs just under $5,000, whereas BCC charges $86 per credit, which translates into about $1,300 for the year plus books and materials) NCS also has an on-site radio station (KNBS) but, According to Director of Instruction Steve Mills, the signal has a radius of "about 5 blocks". Both NCS and CSB provide the equipment and opportunity to compile an aircheck, and the programs give the students the background to take the next step in their quest for employment...an internship at a local radio station.

Virtually all radio educators agree that internships are a crucial step in the search for a job. The exception is the Connecticut School of Broadcasting, which claims to have success in placing people in paid positions immediately after graduation from their four month program. Internships not only provide hands-on experience in an actual working environment, but also allow students to make contact with potential employers and those who can provide valuable recommendations and referrals. Duties handled by interns usually include dubbing commercials onto tape cartridges, typing news scripts, performing call-out research and, for the lucky few, voicing tags on commercials.

Occasionally interns progress immediately to on-air or production positions in major markets such as Seattle, but most find their first paid position in exotic locales such as Wenatchee, Yakima, Moses Lake or Walla Walla. Announcers usually start with a part time weekend shift, honing their skills and constantly improving the quality of their all-important aircheck tape. Pay is normally minimal; in fact, probably the biggest obstacle for most would be DJ's is having the financial resources to survive not only the educational process but also the "dues paying" phase of their careers, working for next to nothing for months or even years.

A privileged few eventually gain full time status on the air in major markets, but often after crisscrossing the nation working their way up the radio food chain. Even then, their jobs may be at the mercy of the rating books, format changes, or the oft stated "philosophical differences with the management". If job security is a high priority, this probably isn't the career for you. However their will always be those dedicated and driven enough to accept the challenge and try for a career as a radio announcer.

...SAY IT AIN'T SO

shows like Christine Lavin, Louden Wainright, John Stewart, it goes on and on and on. Artists who don't nescesarily have new product, but we know they have an audience. We've lost the only avenue to that audience and it's really going to effect whether or not we can do those kinds of shows. It may just not be feasable for us to do those shows anymore." KEZX's support of local music is legendary. The station sponsored a concert tour in the Soviet Union by local musicians Rumours of the Big Wave and they have presented countless concerts by local artists throughout the Great Northwest.

> "...they squash radio that is innovative, risky and has a local personality"

The listeners of KEZX are a devoted lot and while the station's ratings have never shown up in the top 10, or even the top twenty, the dedication and demographics of it's listeners has made it a very effective advertising medium. "KEZX doesn't have a problem with their product, their problem has been with how they market it." says Shirley Thom, of the sales departments of KOMO and KKFX as well as the Director of the Broadcast Sales Institute. She continued saying "I'm Director of a local broadcast association and all the stations donate some commercial time to us which we sell to finance our activities. The response we got from the KEZX time was amazing. I know their format works." Jamie Brown, the media buyer for Peaches Music and Video, agrees "They were very effective with the adult alternative crowd" In fact, we ran a reader survey in our August Issue in which we asked "What is your favorite type of radio programming?" All the answers varied but the replies were things like Rock, Jazz, Talk, Classical, and even NPR, Classic Rock or Progressive but only one station was specifically named, KEZX, and it was named by over 15% of our readers with many more implying (with answers like "progressive") that they listen.

A recent article by Jane Keller in Media Inc. stated "...many say radio is losing it's soul. Investors, not broadcasters, march into town with their pockets full of borrowed money and they squash radio that is innovative, risky and has a local personality." Bob Brown, media director at McCann-Erickson, Seattle said "What you don't see a lot of... is the experimentation and tailoring of formats to a particularly area...it's easier to take some canned format that somebody else developed and syndicated than it is to develop a format or to try to push the frontiers back a little bit and try to carve out your own format."

KEZX did push the frontiers back a little and they did develop their own format that truly reflects the "soul" of the Northwest. Clearly, whether you listen to KEZX or not, everyone who cares about broadcasting or the local music scene will be hurt by the demise of the "Northwest Progressive" format. We at the Radio Guide urge you to sign those petitions at the music stores and we hope you will go one step further, write the owner of KEZX Roy Park, Park Communications , PO box 550, Ithica NY 14851 and ask them to reconsider their planned changed.

Drama

Mon-Fri:

Radio Reader Nightly readings from a current novel in 15 - 60 half hour segments read by Dick Estell. 9/1-9/26 M.D. Dr Ben Keane's facinating and hilarious medical story 9/27 Sarurday Night begins. An eye opening book by Susan Orlean that details what many Americans do with their Saturday night. 10-10:30pm KUOW 94.9

NPR Playhouse Nightly half hour serial adaptations of old favorites and experimental contemporary radio in this general format:

MONDAY; Once in a Lifetime The play is set in the Hollywood boom days of 1927. A group of vaudvillians travel to Hollywood to aid the silent screen star's transition to "talkies".

TUESDAY; Pride and Predjudice, The classic story of Mr & Mrs Bennet and their five beautiful daughters.

WEDNESDAY; Ruby III A flashy new drama chronicling the adventures of two female superheroes, galactic gumshoe Ruby and techno-anthropologist Inanna

THURSDAY; Dreams of Rio Further adventures with the indomitable Jack Flanders as he treks through the mysterious wilds of Brazil in search of the lost city.

FRIDAY; The Bob and Ray Show begins 9/14 and continues all month. Classic humorists Bob Elliot and the late Ray Goulding make a comeback in these hilarious programs recorded live between 1982 and 1986.

INSIDE the GUIDE

Hello Readers,

It's back to school time again and the days are getting shorter. I'd like to thank everybody for returning our Reader Survey from last month. We were overwhelmed by the response but you should be receiving your radio stickers within the next week. For those of you that haven't sent your surveys back to us yet, IT'S NOT TOO LATE! As a result of the survey we've made a few changes in the Guide and you can expect more changes to follow shortly.

Only one or two of you listed the live entertainment listings as being important too you and lot's of people requested more stories. So, we dropped the entertainment listings and added a piece of radio fiction by a new writer named Chris Schneider. We hope to include even more stories as well as articles about radio personalities and technical tips in coming issues. If there are people out there who miss the entertainment listings, drop us a letter and we'll see what we can do about restoring them.

As always we have our Radio Waves comic strip on page 8 and Steve Turners Radio Guide Crossword is on page 14.

STATION NEWS

Following the sale of KNUA to Brown Broadcasting earlier this summer, the stations call letters have just been changed to KKNW. Station Management has also changed - Station Manager Shelly Owens has been replaced by Dennis Gwiadon and Program Director Ralph Stewart's position has been filled by Nick Francis. KKNW will continue to program new adult contemporary music and other than the call letters listeners shouldn't notice much difference in the station.

The Jack Straw Foundation will be back on the air again sometime before the end of the year. The FCC granted the foundation a construction license to begin station KSER. KSER has six months to begin broadcasting from a tower that will be built north of Lynnwood.

KRAB, the station originally owned by the group, was Seattle's first listener supported station. Known for it's progressive and eclectic programming, it's frequency at 107.7 Mhz. was sold in 1984.

The new station will be based in Snohomish county but many shows will be produced at the Jack Straw Foundation's production facility which is under construction in Seattle. The Foundation plans to produce radio theater and children's shows at the facility. They also plan to train new volunteers there.

KSER plans to rely heavily on volunteers. The station's schedule will include experimental programming, unclassic classics, world music, children's shows, folk music and whatever quality music motivated volunteers want to broadcast. According to Nancy Keith, KSER's new station manager, several staff members have been hired but the station still needs another 50 to 70 volunteers.

In related news KEZX has a new station manager, Well known broadcaster "Peg" Dempsey is now manager of both the AM and FM sides. Peg ran KBRD/KTAC for the last four years.

KING is up for sale, the news has been in all the daily papers. The current owners plan to devote their time to environmental work.

KSEA has won the prestigious International Gold Medalion Award from the Broadcast Promotion and Marketing Executives Association for their Soft 'n Light spot.

LETTERS FROM READERS

Dear People,

After hearing about your publication for a few months I finally got to see a copy at the station where I host the reggae show - CITR 101.9 (UBC) Vancouver. Since here at home (Salt Spring Island) I primarily listen to Seattle FM stations... I wish to subscribe to the Radio Guide. I hope the US rates apply to Canada.

I also happen to be an FM program consultant and am involved in the technical end of broadcasting undertakings. I would like to compliment you on your EXCELENT efforts made to achieve accuracy. I would like to make some corrections though.
KLAY 1180 Khz - My FCC microfiche shows that KLAY has been granted II80 khz on a daytime basis, not 1160 kHz as you indicate. I believe they have been granted very low power status between sunset & 6am, thus not making it practical to broadcast during the dark hours. Daytime power is 10,000 watts, directional.
KISM 92.9 - Easy Listening!?!?! This came as a total surprise! KISM is a CHR (Contemporary Hits Radio) formatted station. with live morning and afternoon drive shows - other times it is automated. Also no news or talk (unlike their AM KGMI, which is easy listening, news and talk)

Again, what an excelent publication. Vancouver could certainly use such a publication. Also, I know this will screw up your grid system, but please consider includuing listings for KXXO 96.1, Olympia (AC), KUGS 89.3, Bellingham, (ALT) and KGHP 89.3, Gig Habor, (CHR, Alt.)

Thank You, Regards
Mike Cherry

Breaking The Airwaves

By Bruce Buckner

Aug. 21 1990- One of the most powerful and successful record promoters of the 1980's went on trial today charged with racketeering and providing payola to radio stations. Joseph Isgro was charged with 57 counts of making "illicit and illegal payments" to radio stations in order to get certain records he was promoting on the air. Mr. Isgro's clients included Columbia, Warner Bros., RCA and Polygram records and the manager of one LA radio station has already pleaded guilty to receiving around $100,000 a year for playing Isgro's records.

With the major labels laying out that kind of cash to stations across the country, do local bands have any chance at all of breaking the national airplay charts? We investigated three artists and/or their record labels who have successfully broken the radio charts to discover how they did it. Lara Lavi has her own label-Cody Records, Nirvana is a local band on the Sub Pop label, and we spoke with the label of one of the biggest NW successes-Nasty Mix Record's Sir Mix-A-Lot.

Lara Lavi is Seattle's only attorney/pop singer. She formed Cody Records (Cody is her dog) following the recording of her debut album. Her album has been played on over thirty radio stations across the country and she was voted best new Northwest artist at the last NAMA Award Ceremony.

"The first thing you need is a product that can go on the air, and not very much can go on the air" says Lara Lavi. "We spent a pile of money to make a good recording. We spared no expense and I'm completely fanatic about detail. We came up with something that could compete on a national level. Lavi also stresses the importance of the packaging of the product matching the format. "It's expensive to get on the radio and it's expensive to compete with Sting and Peter Gabrial and whoever else is hot right now. So you need to make yourself look like you are Sting, not just in terms of sound but what your package looks like. You have to give them a reason to open it. I mean, why should they open it?"

Lara continues, "When we finished recording we realized this wasn't going to be 'Grunge 'O' Rama'. You're dealing with trying to figure out which format you fit in when you're looking at radio. You have to be realistic, I'm not going to be on KUBE radio and I'm not going to be on KCMU. I'm best friends with the guy who runs KCMU (Chris Knab) but he can't put me on the air because we don't play 'Fuck the Bunny.' If you want to break into radio you'd better be familiar with what's on the radio, so you're not living in fairyland. If you are independent you have to identify every station that might play you. There are lots of lists of all the stations and their formats at the library and other places. We put a couple of researchers on that."

"Given you have a good product and you've done your market research so you know which stations are likely to play you, then you have to deal with getting it out there. Here is where you encounter a vicious circle that is very difficult to break into and the circle is the same whether you are talking about breaking locally, regionally or nationally - it's the same circle, it just gets wider." The circle Ms. Lavi refers to is the impossible task (at least for a small independent label) of simultaneously getting distribution into all the retail outlets and persuading the program directors of the appropriate stations to add your record to their playlists.

Unfortunately, most distributors don't want to carry your product unless it has airplay to help promote and sell it. And most Program Directors won't program your music unless it's available to their listeners in the stores. However Lavi feels that the radio stations are the place to try to break into the circle.

"The thing about radio that's different from the big labels, the distributors and publishers in the vicious circle is Program Directors. I've found that Program Directors are, for the most part, lunatics. They're not evil guys, but they are bombarded with product. I have a lot of respect for them." The program director is responsible for deciding what gets played but he is also responsible for maintaining the stations ratings and there is a lot of money riding on those rating points. "You have to send your record out to every station and follow through with phone calls, you have to call every Program Director. I have a thing that I do which has helped me a lot. Whenever they put me on the air, I send them daisies. We do things with a lot of class and it helps them remember me. Then there are people who are flukes out there, like Ralph Stewart, the PD at KNUA, he kept me on the air for a year. He was very supportive, very helpful. When they charted us for Billboard it gave us a big push. [Editors Note: Ralph Stewart was let go by the new ownership of KNUA, now KKNW this August.] Stations like KNUA and particularly KEZX are so precious, they are soooo precious and few because most stations are programmed nationally by corporations who just use the charts and have no clue about music, their sole interest is trying to sell whatever it is the advertiser is trying to sell.

"There is a massive amount of work required to get attention from Program Directors. I'm right up there at 4 am with my people licking envelopes, putting postage on things and sending it out. Program Directors get stacks of CD's everyday and most of the time you're competing for slots that the majors have already filled. So if you get on any stations at all as an independent you should be very proud of yourself." The stations aren't interested in giving the public something new or different according to Lavi. "The only time they play anything different, have you noticed, is on Sunday night at Midnight. I mean I don't know a lot of people who are up at Sunday Night at Midnight. The only ones I know of are musicians-who aren't working. If we are really commited to new music then we should be playing it at times when people will actually hear it and if it takes a while to recondition the public to get used to listening to different things, then we should gently do that because, well, we're creating mono-genetic corn, and mono-genetic apples and we're doing it with music. Commercialism is rampant."

"Our distributor was Precision Sound and they had a great woman named Cathy who was really able to work Adult Alternative radio. She worked our record and got us on over thirty stations across the country. What she did is what you pay mass bucks to a consultant to do. There are quite a few Radio Consultants out there, if they like your stuff or you pay them enough money they'll pump it, people like Mike Carlson here in town, Mike has about 300 stations he works with. It's sort of absurd, because the reason why these consultants have developed was to put some middle ground between the labels and the radio stations to avoid some of the payola issues. So instead of paying off the poor PD, you're paying the consultant to tell the PD! So it's the same payola in a lot of ways."

"Payola, what's that?" asks "Nasty" Nes Rodriguez, a former DJ who used to perform with Sir Mix-A-Lot but now devotes himself fulltime to promotion at Nasty Mix Records. "Nasty" Nes was responsible for Sir Mix-A-Lot's Swass release becoming the first independent record from the NW to go "Gold" since Louie Louie. "Radio," says Nes, "is looking for something that everyone can relate to, not some bragadocious rap, but a funny story or a love song. If everyone can relate to it then it can be programmed on the radio." Nes promotes to black/urban stations first even though he finds more success with rap at contemporary hit stations. "I wanted to get an urban base first because with rap if you break on Top 40 first, your main hard-core audience will label you a sell-out. We want to show respect to the black community. But hey man, what can you do? It's the urban radio programmers who are reluctant to break rap." (Cont. pg. 26)

WLN: WHALENS FINEST

By Chris Schneider

"Hi, We're back and welcome to it. This is WLN's own talk show. I'm your host, Brian Daniels. The topic again is relationships and we welcome your calls. Right now there seems to be a caller on the line so let's get to it. Hello you're on the air.

"Hello, my name is Marcia and I've been puzzling over relationships all week. I'm thinking I've come to some conclusions here but I'd like to know what you think of them"

"Yes Marcia, go ahead."

"Well, it all started when I started examining my life with vs without a relationship. I'm pretty sure that the sanest I've been in my life-all the sane times of my life- were when I was not in relationships. And that's not to say that relationships drive me crazy; It's to say that I myself would go a little crazy and then get into a relationship. You see what I'm saying?"

"I think so. And you were feeling like, perhaps, you are not open to stable relationships?"

"No no, not that really at all. The thing is that I'm in a relationship now and one of the reasons that I started into it was because I felt pretty sane at the time. I can see now how I rushed into it; to finally be in a relationship when I was sane... and I started wondering if, maybe, I was tricking myself into believing I was sane because I basically feel more comfortable being insane. I mean, it sure is a lot easier to be able to depend on someone, to have your needs met, but I know I don't like the memory of being insane. How do you know your not tricking yourself?"

"Well, a question for you; why is it that you, uh, feel uncomfortable, uh, depending on someone or having your needs met?"

"Well in the first place, I don't feel 'uh-uncomfortable-uh' about the word insanity. A lot of my friends are psychiatrists and most of the others have been through therapy. The words 'sane' and 'insane' are valid words and describe precisely the states of mind I wish to discuss. Now, as to your question, I don't think it is really insane to have your needs met; I just think it's important for, um, completion, or - like - for - to be a whole person that not all your needs get met. I mean, if all your needs are met, then either you're cheating yourself out of growth or you're just lying to yourself, and the real ones that aren't being met are just bubbling under the surface, you know? See, I think that I always do that - the last one."

"OK, I think I see your point. Uh, well it is, I think, important to know that all your needs are not going to be met by any one person except yourself - and I think you know that, but maybe try to forget it when you get into..."

"Well, that's sort of it. You have to be able to depend on someone, or, you know, I think what really makes it a loving relationship is that you give credit to the other person to be able to meet your needs. I mean, if you accept that you are the only person that can meet your needs, then people, I think, become just flat, just sort of reflective boards that you use to manipulate and...you know, let's be realistic that's most of life right there - hearing what you asked people to bounce back at you. But, you know, for a loving relationship, you have to flesh the other person out, let him be in 3-D, and say 'Here are are some needs of mine that I am probably capable of meeting, but you do it, and I'll do thew same for you, you know?"

"Yes, exactly, and you know, that's where communication is so important. That view, I think, is certainly not insane, but definitely a risky one. Your initial concern was whether or not you were tricking yourself into believing you were sane so that you could go back to insanity, correct?"

"Yes"

"My question to you is this - If, in fact, you know now the times of your life when you were sane and those that you were insane, did you actually feel, at the times you were insane, that you were? And if so, where was your philosophy of personal three- dimensionalizing at the time?"

"Well, that philosophy is very recent...I mean, tonight was the first time I ever vocalized it, to tell the truth. Now, um, the bit about did I know it at the time is... uh .. sort of a tough one, I mean, I never really thought about it... uh ..I'd have to.. uh..."

"I'll tell you what. You hold the line and think about it for two minutes and we'll be right back. Your listening to WLN, the number is 555-6943, the topic is relationships. This is Whalen's

"Nasty" Nes credits his experience in radio with Swass' success on the airwaves. "I was programming K-Fox [KKFX] radio for a long time, I was the Music Director and Assistant Program Director out there. A lot of record labels used to call me up pushing their records, wanting me to add the records in my reports to Billboard and R&R (Radio and Records). I remember the things they use to say to me on the phone. They would go as far as sayin 'Come on, Nes, if you don't add this record my boss is going to fire me! Come on man, be a Homey, be a true friend'. They would beg and stuff." Nes continues, "I just utilized what I learned being on the radio side of record promotion. I learned a lot from twelve years in radio and I'm still in radio ,doing the Rap Attack program on KCMU so I can keep my finger on what the people want to hear, and I still get promoters calling me to play their records"

According to Nes, "Your typical radio programmer is a guy in his thirties or forties, wearing a suit and a tie, he doesn't hang out on the streets drinking 'Old English' with the brothers. He's a conservative adult and the way he programs the music is he looks at the Billboard or R&R charts and sees what's on there and who's playing it and that's what sets the trend. For the most part, the programmers aren't leaders, they're followers. The charts definitely effect a lot of programmers decision of what they are going to play. So the stations that report to Billboard are my priorities. For example right now I'm working on a new Kid Sensation single called Seatown Ballers. Kid used to be with Sir Mix-a-Lot and this first week we picked up eleven Billboard stations and six R&R stations which means we had more reports than groups like Cameo, Michael Bollin and even George Michaels. The charts give you a good idea of how well your doing with radio."

"Selling a record is alot like selling a car" Rodriguez says "I have tracking sheets that contain the stations, their phone numbers, what city they're in and the names of the program directors and music directors or rap DJ. I just call them all up at least once a week. You've got to tell them why they should play it, and tell them who else is playing it around the nation especially if some one else in their area is playing it. You have to overcome their objections if they have any. It's just a matter of calling them up every week and hounding them" "But", cautions Nes, "you have to have some ammunition. You need to be able to cite some chart action or retail action or even video action. If you have a video that really helps get your record played. We send out copies of the video to all the stations as well as all sorts of other promo stuff, things like hype sheets [press releases] key chains with Sir Mix-A-Lot's name on them and T-shirts."

When asked about consultants Nes replied "It's funny, Posse on Broadway was our first single and our biggest success and I did that one all by myself but we have hired independent promoters on some of Sir Mix-a-Lot's other records. They do what I do only on a grander scale. We usually use them after we've crossed over to Top 40 radio. Top 40 radio is so big that it can be too much for me to handle all by myself and usually these promoters have established a good relationship with a large number of stations. Sometimes they help and sometimes they don't. We used one with Mix-A-Lots single Beepers with some success but it didn't help much with Iron Man another cut by Mix-a-Lot. You have your ups and downs, when Iron Man wasn't doing as well as we expected, I was thinking 'Oh man, what am I doing in this business' but if your record goes Gold or Platinum you get psyched up and you just love where your working and what your doing."

Sub Pop Records avoids the entire issue of consultants and payola by taking a "grass roots" aproach to promotion. Because they specialize in alternative rock and "new" music, they concentrate their efforts on the college stations and other small alternative stations. Sub Pop is recognized as the label that has promoted the "Seattle Grunge Sound" to national prominence. One of their biggest current successes is with the group Nirvana. Nirvana has been charted on nearly 200 stations across the country.

Acording to Phil Weatherill, radio promotion director at Sub Pop, they try to start their promotion by reaching the trendsetters. One of they ways they do that is by introducing a new band via their "Single of the Month Club" The singles are released in very limited numbers making them quickly become collectors items. This in turn helps create a demand for more material from the groups. All singles of the month are sent out to the alternative college stations and, says Phil "are almost guarenteed radio play" Radio helps promote the bands but isn't nessisarily the most important factor with alternative rock. Touring is also very important and should coincide with radio play. Phil says "right now Nirvana stuff is getting lots of airplay on the college stations in Florida, so that's an indication to us to set up a tour right away and step up distribution down there. The Fluid are big in the Mid East, we find that out from the radio stations."

> "The more people you can suck up to the better"
> Erica Hunter, Head of Publicity Sub Pop Records

"Another good way to break is through the music journals, for example all the alternative rock DJ's read CMJ (College Music Journal) so a good review in CMJ almost guarantees airplay across the country. Nirvana got a review on their 'Bleached' album, that gave them a real big push."CMJ also contain charts of what's hot and being played across the country. "Sub Pop has a lot of weight to throw around with the college stations. Nirvana has been charted on nearly two hundred stations".

Erica Hunter head of publicity at Sub Pop says what a band has to do to break nationally is "Tour incessantly, just tour, tour ,tour and do lots of interviews wherever you play. That's what a band has to do. Tour and be nice to all the DJ's. The more people you can suck up to the better." A lot of Sub Pop bands make the jump from alternative college stations to commercial radio when a major label takes notice of their success on an independent label like Sub Pop, signs them and then repeats the process on a larger scale. Bands like Soundgarden and Sonic Youth have successfully made this jump. To sum it all up, Phil says "good product, a lot of touring, being nice to people and making friends everywhere, and lots of interviews are the basics necessary to break."

... This is Whalen's finest."

AT THE INTERNATIONAL HOUSE OF PANCAKES "WAITING" IS A FOREIGN TERM....

"Marcia, are you still on the line?"

"Right here, Sugar"

"You have exactly two minutes to tell me just what the hell you're doing tonight. And don't tell me your helping my ratings."

"Well, I'm doing what you asked me to do. I'm giving your audience something to think about. And , like you told me, I'm relaxing because there's no one listening anyway. Are you coming home tonight?"

"I don't know. Listen, sanity was not in the script. Tonight we are supposed to talk about communication in a relationship. I've got some good things to say about it. Can you please steer the question back to the script?"

"Communica... If you've got such good things to say about it, how come I'm always talking to the damn radio? I swear, I've been so damn bored with you lately that I invited an old, old friend of mine over tonight."

"You inv - did he come over?"

"Come over? I just had to walk down to the corner and pick him up. Johnny Walker's with me. In his little red suit."

"Oh God, have you had much to drink?"

"Not much, Brian, not much. See, I've been pretending he was you for a little while, and it's like I can hardly put my lips on him anymore. He's definitely not as strong as he first was, though. I must have taken something from him"

"Look, you know the rules. No, I'm not coming home tonight. Shit, I'm on. I'll call you tomorrow. Don't do anything stupid"

"Stupid-"

"Hi, you're listening to WLN, Whalen's finest. The topic is relationships and you are on the air....Go ahead caller... Caller are you there?"

"Yeh, um, yeh hello?"

"Hello, you're on the air. Go ahead"

"Yeh, this is sort of about relationships... I mean scientifically.. um.. is a man physically heavier when he has an erection? I mean, well, slightly at least?"

"You mean because of the expansion? No, all that is already in the body. Mostly it's blood."

"Blood? Damn, it's a wonder I don't faint then, because it must take a quart to..

"Live radio folks! Something for everyone, I suppose. Marty, start writing those letters of apology. Now seriously we have plenty of time left. Is there anyone who has...ah, go ahead caller, you're on the air"

"Yeah, what do mosquitos eat when they're not eating me?"

"Cats. Thank you sir. Do we have any questions about relationships? Here's a caller. Go ahead you're on the air"

"Hi Brian, it's me, Marcia. We must have gotten cut off."

"Marcia, what happened to you? We thought you'd hung up. Of course, we do try to limit each person to one call per night."

"Come on, Brian, you don't have any other calls."

"Heh-heh, well, I guess you've got me there. What can I do for you?"

"Well, Brian, I'm having trouble with this bit about flat vs 3-d relationships. I mean how do you know you can stop treating people flatly just by saying so? How do you know if there's something inside? And who cares if you're three dimensional if you're hollow inside?"

"You sure are thinking a lot tonight, Marcia. If your worried about the existence of mind - and I'm no philosopher - but I wouldn't worry about it if I were you."

"No. No, not mind, Brian, but soul. That's what's missing.

" OK, Marcia, that's interesting. We, of course, only have an hour of show here and, certainly, people have been arguing for centuries over the existence of a soul. Tonights topic is relationships if we could steer the..."

"Well, lets do this - let's say there is a relationship wherein one person thinks up clever things to say and then has his girlfriend pose these thoughts as questions. Now let's say there are two reasons for this: a) he's too insecure to voice his own ideas which he cares about, and b) it's an ego trip for him to have his friends think his smart girlfriend respects and believes the answers he gives. Now here's the question: Who has less soul? The guy who does this or the woman who lets him?"

"Uh, yes, I see what you're getting at, and, uh, it's uh..."

" Because personally I couldn't stand to live the lie that I have no soul."

"I don't really think that's the question here, Marcia. I mean, maybe it's just a simple matter of both of you having a lot of growing up to do. Not that there is anything wrong with having a lot of growing up to do, we all do."

"Well yeah, Bry, I'll tell you, there probably is a lot of growing up to be done, but don't you ever get tired of spending your life growing up? I mean, let's just say the time comes when you want to stop growing up and just be grown up. I'm thinking that that moment comes with a big trade off. Tit for tat and then you realize what the tit was all about and you laugh about it. I'll tell you, earlier tonight, I had a bottle inside of me. Let's keep it on the radio, but I did you know? And the answer to your question you posed long ago is this. No, you don't really know you are insane when you commit insane acts. You just feel an immense freedom and a rush of... hey guess what... three dimensionality. You're a human and you can do this. So there I am with this bottle..

"Marcia? You're being real honest and we appreciate that, but let me ask you an honest question. Have you ever spent any time in a mental institution?"

Well, Bry, you know I have. And that is just a cheap shot which shows how little you understand. I did and that's private enough. But what I did with the bottle is the important thing.. Hang on a second, Bry.."

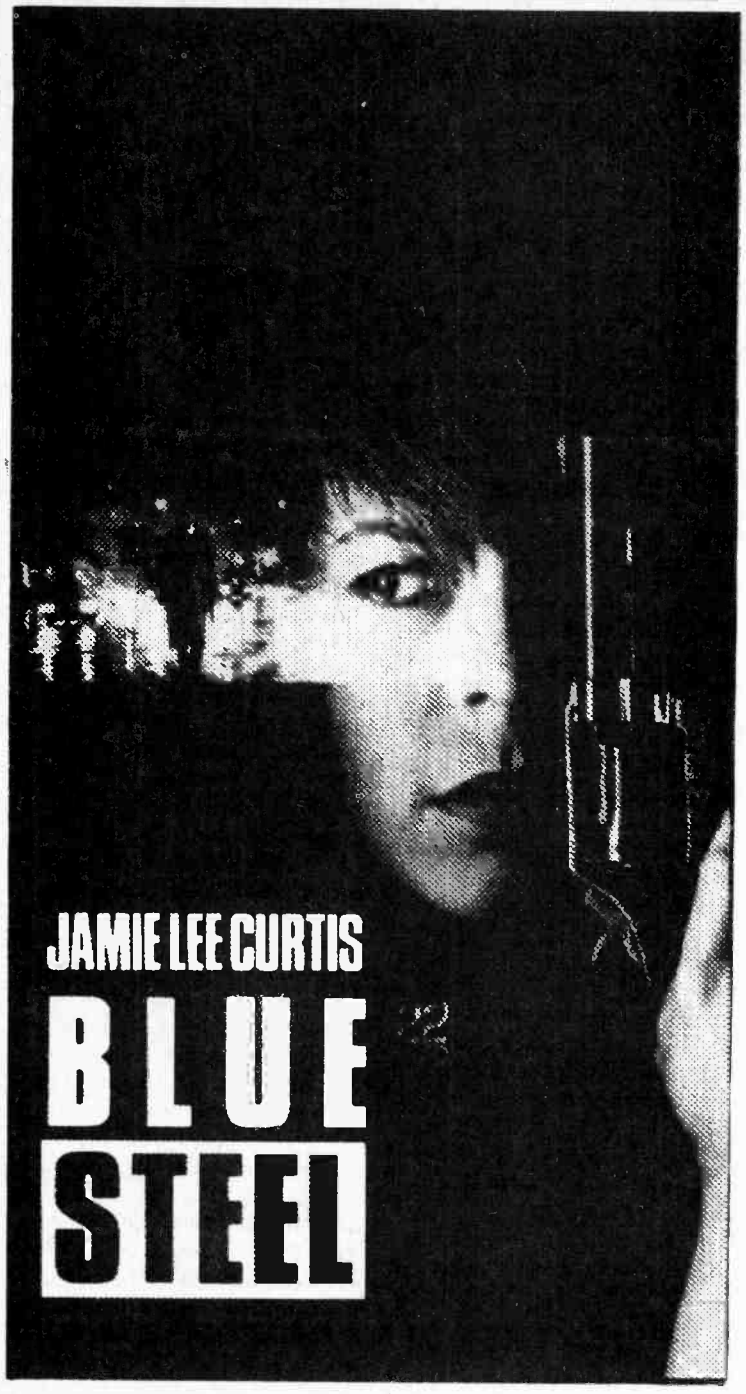
"Bry? You still there?"

"Well my phone is lighting up..."

"Stow it, Bry. Listen, what I did later was the real trade-off. The growing up for the grown up. The first part was that I poured the rest of the bottle of scotch all over this book/trophy case and then lit it. You see what I'm saying? And right now I'm watching this thing burn. I'm watching this trophy which was supposed to be brass just catch fire and melt. It was originally shaped like an old-timey microphone, but now it just looks like a gold and black blob of plastic. See what I'm saying, Bry?"

"And yeah - the grown up part comes when I put out the fire so the whole building doesn't go up - which come to think of it, I'd better do now. Then of course, I'm going to find some salve and then get the hell out of Whalen, Iowa. Bye bye, Bry. (click)."

"And bye-bye young lady. Say is there a full moon out there tonight, fellahs? Man oh man, folks I promise that's over. Stay tuned for a change of scenery here on Whalens Finest, WLN.



FOR A ROOKIE COP, THERE'S ONE THING MORE DANGEROUS THAN UNCOVERING A KILLER'S FANTASY. BECOMING IT.

Jamie Lee Curtis (A Fish Called Wanda) stars in this tightly strung, psychological action thriller about a female cop trapped in a steel web of romance, revenge and murder. Ron Silver (Enemies: A Love Story) co-stars as a smooth-talking commodities broker by day . . . and crazed madman by night.
